

High School and Middle School Snow Day Plans 2024-25

With potential of snow and ice in the coming months, snow days will come to mind. As done last year, please see the plans below should there be snow days in our future.

- Mr. Kirkpatrick has sent communication November 8 outlining details on Winter Weather.
- While originally traditional snow days were not built into the calendar, as we analyzed the amount of time in school this year, we are able to do one traditional snow day prior to any subsequent remote learning days without the need to have students make up the day.

After the use of one traditional snow day (no remote learning), we will plan on remote learning at the secondary level for subsequent snow days:

- Teachers will post asynchronous work on Schoology for students to access.
- Teachers will be available through email and Schoology messages to answer questions and assist students with questions on the day of remote learning.
- Students will have 5 school days to turn in the assignment.
- Teachers will continue to support students during the 5 school days to provide help if needed on the assignment.

Please contact your school's principal with questions. Thank you!
