

Technician in San Jose

We are looking for field service technicians to install and repair automotive service equipment. If you already have experience repairing air compressors or lifts you move to the front of the line and get a gold star. If you don't have experience, don't worry. We have never had an applicant who did.

As a service tech you will repair and install the equipment used by auto shops, dealerships, quick lubes, and tire stores. Attention to detail and paperwork follow-up are essential. Candidates must have strong mechanical skills and be able to figure out new problems on their own. If you need to do something 3 times before you are comfortable doing it by yourself, this is not the job for you. If you are confident that your bicycle repair skills are enough to let you fix the space shuttle, we want to talk to you.

For the first 3 months or so, technicians report to our San Jose warehouse every day. After we are sure they won't stick their finger in a socket, technicians are dispatched from home. If you have a framed set of speeding tickets at home, best of luck with your job search. We can only hire technicians with clean driving records.

You don't need to have past experience, but you do need self-confidence and mechanical ability. We are looking for people who know their righty-tighty from their lefty-loosey, know that cursing at a problem will not fix it, and take pride in the work they do. Our service techs work a 4 day week. We don't know what they do the other 3 days.

Full-time, regular position
