Hi Mr. Albizo!

Hope you're doing well, especially with the heat wave going on. I just wanted to check in and let you know I'm doing great as well and what I've been up to these days:

I'm entering my final year of college and hopefully plan to graduate December 2025! I'm currently working in Maryland for the DoD and I've been having a blast with the different offices I get to tour with here. My first office heavily utilized my CompTIA Security+ certification to do SysAdmin roles so I'm really glad you encouraged me to get it since I was in high school - almost 5 years ago! And my current office has a team who does network mapping so hopefully I'll be able to use the skills I learned from your classes in that role as well. My next office is very hardware focused so I'll have to see how I do there...

Besides that, happy (early) Independence Day to you and your family!

I plan on camping (for the first time) with some friends over the long weekend in Virginia. I'll also attach a photo of me in front of the Capitol in D.C. last year, so you don't forget my face :) I wish I could visit you soon, but until then, I hope you stay healthy and strong!
