C. RFI Responses

Q: Cutting/Coring and Patching is noted as being a requirement for the Food Services Scope of Work. We plan on coordinating with other trades onsite where any Cutting/Coring may be needed for our work so that other trades can perform this work. Can you confirm this acceptable?

A: Food services is responsible for all cutting/coring and patching that is specified in the scope of work and on the drawings.

Q: In the Specific Scope section, it is noted that the Food Service Contractor is responsible to install Hand Sink we provide. We typically provide the hand sinks and turn them over to the Plumber for their install. Can you please confirm Plumber will be handling the install of the hand sinks?

A: Mechanical contractor will be handling install of hand sinks.

Q: Is the Food Service contractor required to participate in BIM Coordination meetings, and are we required to submit 3D Models as part of our coordination during the Submittal process?

A: No.

Q: Are existing food service equipment pads to be demoed?

A: Tiled equipment curbs referred to as pads are to be removed to accommodate new freestanding service counters on legs.

Q: Can you provide the milestone Schedule? There is a schedule section in the project manual however the actual schedule is not available.

A: Will be provided on a later date.

Q: What are the applicable wage rates? In the Advertisement for Bidders it says Prevailing wage is not applicable however further into the documents there are notes about required prevailing rates.

A: This is job is under Davis-Bacon prevailing wage laws.

Q: Are there any requirements for EDGE, MBE, WBE, VBE etc?

A: No.
