

STANDARD RESPONSE PROTOCOL

Hold!

Examples of Use: Medical issues, altercations, unfinished maintenance operations, or other interior disruptions.

Initial Public Announcement:
“Hold in your room or area. Clear the halls.”

Family Notification: Parent communication channels, if the incident significantly alters the school day.

Schools will restrict student movement in the building to their current location, take role, and resume activities. Students in hallways will join nearest secure room.

Secure!

Examples of Use: Nearby criminal activity, civil unrest, wild animal, or other exterior disruptions.

Initial Public Announcement:
“Secure! Get inside. Lock outside Doors.”

Family Notification: Parent communication channels, if the incident significantly alters the school day.

Schools will lock exterior doors, restrict student movement to inside the building, take role, and resume activities.

Lockdown!

Examples of Use: Campus intruder, active assailants, or other elevated incidents.

Initial Public Announcement:
“Lockdown! Locks, lights, out of sight.”

Family Notification: Parent communication channels, depending on the threat or disruption.

Schools will restrict student movement to their current location, take role, turn off lights, and move students to a pre-designated area that is out of immediate visibility.

Evacuate!

Examples of Use: Power outages, compromised facility safety, or threats of violence.

Initial Public Announcement:
“Evacuate to ... [specified location]”

Family Notification: Parent communication channels, depending on the threat or disruption.

Schools will direct students to, leave the building, gather at pre-designated locations, and take role. Students not with their class will join the nearest group.

Shelter!

Examples of Use: Possibly tornadoes, flooding, lightening, or other severe weather conditions.

Initial Public Announcement:
“Shelter for ... [specified incident and instruction]”

Family Notification: Parent communication channels, depending on the threat or disruption.

Schools will direct students to take shelter at specific locations, depending on the disruption, where role will be taken.

How Can Families Help?

- Ensure your contact information is always current.
- Become familiar with this Standard Response Protocol.
- Refrain from calling or rushing to your child's school as it could escalate incidents or jeopardize safety.
- Refrain from calling or texting your student until they contact you first.
- Remain attentive to messaging from official district sources; be prepared to come to the school quickly should reunification become necessary.

Reunification

- If reunification with students is needed, families will be directed by Parent communication channels.
- Students will only be released to parents/guardians who are documented as contacts in NebSIS and who present an official government ID.
- Reunification sites are not shared publicly to ensure the safety of students.

For more information, go to our SRP web page at:
www.blairschools.org/parents-students/standard-response-protocol