What are we working on?

Literacy: Students are getting ready to start a new unit about dinosaurs, fossils, and how the earth changes over time. They will be writing their own stories at the end of the unit.

Math: Students are currently learning how to subtract bigger numbers, and are about to start a new unit about measurement.

PBL: Students are still working on their hunger project. Students will work together to answer this question: "How can we use the values at Billie Martinez to impact hunger in our community?"
