

ANNUAL REPORT

SEATTLE COUNTRY
DAY SCHOOL

July 2023–June 2024

Inspiring gifted children to reach their potential through inquiry, curiosity, and wonder

TANGIBLE BENEFITS

Like you, I make contributions to causes I believe in and organizations I trust. Some of these groups are local, but several are in other parts of the country. I know that all of the recipients are doing good work, but I don't actually see that work taking place.

At SCDS, however, I have the great pleasure of seeing the tangible benefits of generosity — your generosity — every day. My colleagues and I can observe students creating and conducting research on their Chromebooks, the ones you helped purchase. We see the line of excited children about to board the school bus for the educational field trip you helped fund. And we know that many teachers and students are benefiting from the professional development and financial aid that you help the school provide.

The proof of your generosity can be seen everywhere on this campus, most especially in the faces of our students; whether they are thoughtful, delighted, or concentrating, they are always learning. My deepest thanks for your contributions to their education and their school.

Warmly,

Kimberly A. Zaidberg
Head of School

THE AUCTION: THE FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT

Fun, frolic, community: That's what our annual auction is all about. All that, and generosity, besides! Last year, the people and organizations listed in this section raised $273,029 (gross) for the school. Most of the proceeds are helping the school manage institutional needs and/or bolster long-term sustainability. On the night of the auction, donors also raised their paddle for a specific purpose — the acquisition of audiovisual equipment — generating approximately $100,000 for that purpose. Many thanks to all our donors, including the many families and businesses who contributed items to the auction. Together, you created a wonderful evening.
