Staying Ahead of AI: When Keeping Up Isn't Good Enough

Schools are, by nature, designed to react to societal needs. Typically, change takes place over long periods of time. Artificial intelligence (AI) is computer-driven and becoming computer-designed — at warp speed. Students have access to AI outside of school. How will school districts keep pace with changes and ensure that they are using AI in the best interest of their students and faculty? This keynote will explore strategies to stay proactive and future-focused.

Breakout Sessions:

- Designing AI-Driven Learning Experiences: A Guide for School Leaders
- Embracing AI: Redesigning Assessments for a New Era
- From Information Overload to Insight: Empowering Educators in the AI Era
- Supporting ELLs/MLLs with AI Tools
- Unlocking Student Potential with AI Driven Differentiation
