Revised the 12th day of September 2011.

The agenda continued to the presentation from Candor Elementary, the use of Lexile and Quantile measures by Principal, Donnie Lynthacum. The measures describe what student's reading (Lexile) and mathematics (Quantile) test scores mean in real terms. They also provide more information without additional testing. Teachers can target the student's ability levels and differentiate instruction based on data received. The measures provide educators with constant metrics for forecasting student performance on year – end tests, based on day to day work in the classroom. Teachers can communicate well with parents and students about the students learning needs and accomplishments.

Sue Hatley presented the School Improvement Plans that each school has put in place. These plans have a commonality that all are using. The plans will be reviewed at midyear. Goals have been set and data will be provided to back up achievement. A motion was made to approve the 2011-2012 School Improvement Plans as presented, by Ann Long, with a second from Sandra Miller. The board unanimously approved the plans.

Sue Hatley then gave a homework and practice overview. There is much training going on with homework. The strategy on classroom to homework best practices involves quality homework, parent involvement, mastery check, review of lessons from class lessons. Student performance drives homework. If you are unsure the student mastered the lesson, then homework should be sent and given feedback. It should be meaningful.

Updated First Health facilities located at each middle school is in progress. Montgomery County schools Child Nutrition group works with First Health to promote healthy eating.

Superintendent Ellis presented the QZAB Funding for Montgomery County. This would offer low interest or 0 interest bonds for the county to borrow funding for improvements to the school roofs at West and East Middle schools and some other infrastructure improvements to some of our other facilities. With a motion from Bryan Dozier, along with a second from Sandra Miller, the board unanimously approved this funding support.

Superintendent Ellis gave an update on the ¼ cent voting referendum that will be on the ballots November 8, 2011. Montgomery County Commissioners have given their approval to this option. Education of this funding method is being distributed with information of where the proceeds will be used.

Next, Kevin Lancaster presented the motion for the East Middle Walking Trail which has been funded with a Montgomery County Health Department Grant. Montgomery County Schools will be responsible for any upkeep for this trail after it has been built. With a motion from Bryan Dozier, along with a second from Sandra Miller, the board unanimously approved this endeavor.

We do get responses from the kids. The Montgomery County experience is mirrored in many areas. When you have conversations, ask the kids. Some students are mission driven with having a mission statement, classroom developed norms, which helps foster respect for others and themselves.
