Newsletter 12-01-2024

Dear Families,

I am hoping everyone had an opportunity to spend time with family and reflect on the little and big things we have to be grateful for. I am incredibly grateful for this opportunity to lead Scofield Magnet Middle School and to get to work with all of the students, faculty, and families who make up our community of Explorers.

Our school collected 1,693 non-perishable food items for donation to our local foodbank. Thank you to all who contributed. We know these items will be appreciated by many families this season.

Sincerely,
Sandra Carlton

SPOTLIGHT ON 6th Grade Science

Ms. Jones & Mr. Fabryk's classes compared two rocks that formed when lava cooled during volcanic eruptions. Students had to form a hypothesis and then experiment to determine which rock was formed from more gassy magma. Students recorded observations and drew conclusions based on their findings.

ENFOQUE EN LA CIENCIA DE 6.º GRADO

Las clases de la Sra. Jones y el Sr. Fabryk compararon dos rocas que se formaron cuando la lava se enfrió durante las erupciones volcánicas. Los estudiantes tuvieron que formular una hipótesis y luego experimentar para determinar qué roca se formó a partir de magma más gaseoso. Los estudiantes registraron sus observaciones y sacaron conclusiones basadas en sus hallazgos.
