NOVEMBER/DECEMBER 2024

What are the advantages of an IB education?

- IB students develop a sense of the world around them and their responsibility to it.
- IB World Schools (the only schools authorized to offer IB programmes) are subject to a strict accreditation process monitored by the IB, ensuring that schools provide a high-quality education.
- IB approaches to learning and teaching are research-based and draw from the best educational practices from around the world.
- IB teachers are required to participate in many professional development opportunities to continually improve their awareness of current educational practices and new thinking by connecting with the global IB community.

Learner Profile

The IB learner profile consists of ten attributes that are fostered in students to develop internationally minded individuals. The aim of all IB programmes is to develop internationally minded people who, recognizing their common humanity and shared guardianship of the planet, help to create a better and more peaceful world.
