A Xaverian Brothers Sponsored School

December 6, 2024

Dear Players, Coaches, Managers, Officials, and Supporters,

Welcome to Our Lady of Good Counsel High School and the 2024 Xaverian Classic Basketball Tournament. Your participation makes this Tournament a success. We are delighted to see schools from New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Texas, and the DC metropolitan area on the court this weekend.

This tournament is named for the religious congregation that founded our school 66 years ago, the Xaverian Brothers. Their five core values hang high above the basket at the west end of the Kane Center: Simplicity, Humility, Compassion, Zeal, and Trust. This year our students chose zeal as the value to focus on, and I certainly hope that each team shows their zeal for the game over these three days. We hope that our Xaverian values are what every basketball player and team aspire to exemplify.

The tournament has come together because of the vision and hard work of my colleagues G.J. Kissal, Head Coach of the Falcons, and Blair Mills, Tournament Director. I am also grateful for the generous sponsors listed in this program.

Play hard and remember to have fun doing it! I wish all teams and players in this Xaverian Classic an action-packed tournament filled with all the excitement that the game brings. We are proud to host the tournament and hope that you enjoy your visit to Olney and our school.

Good luck to you all!

President John Ciccone

Team Outlook: The Lady Falcons are gearing up for an exciting 2024-25 season with a focus on positive reinforcement and a "win one play at a time" mindset. This approach aims to set the stage for both team and individual development. With University of Cincinnati pledge and senior point guard Caliyah DeVillasee leading the way the Falcons will be a tough out in the competitive WCAC, despite missing Vermont signee Madison Hall, who is currently sidelined. The Falcons' emphasis will remain on teamwork and every player stepping up to contribute to the team's overall success.

Team Outlook: The Young Falcons are set for an exciting season, returning four key impact players from last year's squad. Known for their intensity and unselfish play, the team will lean on its core group, including three of their top four scorers from last season. With the addition of promising newcomers to the varsity level, the Falcons are poised to compete with energy and a team-first mentality. This combination of experience and fresh talent sets the stage for a dynamic and competitive season ahead.

Robert “Bob” Windlan

Bob Windlan joined the Good Counsel family as the Assistant Varsity Basketball Coach for the 1984-85 season, then served as Head Varsity Coach from 1985-1988. He was named the Athletic Director in May 1987 and served in this capacity through January 2005, nearly 18 years of dedicated service.

During his tenure, Bob was responsible for all sports teams and student-athletes, including the coordination of schedules, transportation, officiating, and maintenance of the athletic fields. Good Counsel had 19 teams when he took over in 1987 and had 56 teams by the end of his career in 2005, directly attributable to Good Counsel becoming a co-educational school in 1988.

Bob was able to implement a number of important programs while at Good Counsel. He was instrumental in the founding of the Athletic Training Department, which opened in 1993 and was headed by Amy Prezelski, who was then hired as Athletic Director after Bob retired. He also oversaw the modernization of the weight room, installed new scoreboards on the football field and main gymnasium, coordinated plans for a new snack bar for football games, and created a position for a Strength and Conditioning Coach, all of which paid big dividends for Good Counsel’s student-athletes. He also served as President of the Catholic Girls Athletic Association (CGAA) and was instrumental in combining the CGAA with the Washington Metropolitan Athletic Conference (WMAC) to form what is commonly known today as the Washington Catholic Athletic Conference (WCAC). During his career as Athletic Director, every male and female sports team won a league championship at some point. In short, his service at Good Counsel went well above and beyond the call of duty most days, as he put in many hours and spent much of his personal time ensuring the Athletic Department needs were met.

Bill Mogus — Asst. Athletic Director
Bob Windlan — Athletic Director

Bob was highly respected in the Good Counsel community and even after retirement, still helped out at football games and other events. Four of his five children graduated from Good Counsel (Chris, '85; Susan, '92; Michael, '97; and Laura, '00. His other daughter, Karen, graduated from Sherwood in '87 prior to GC becoming co-ed).

Bob passed away in 2017 after a valiant battle with Parkinson’s disease. Prior to his passing, he was inducted into Good Counsel’s Athletic Hall of Fame in 2007. In 2012, Good Counsel began recognizing a male and female senior student-athlete with the Robert L. Windlan Athlete of the Year award; each award winner’s picture from 2012 to present day can be seen in the hallways surrounding the main gym.
