Meet Hen Hud’s Valedictorian and Salutatorian: Peter Kocek and Kayla Cohen

Class of 2023 Valedictorian Peter Kocek and Salutatorian Kayla Cohen both point to the abundance of opportunities offered at Hendrick Hudson High School as a contributing factor in their success, both inside and outside of the classroom.

“The high school provides so many choices and extra-curricular opportunities, it allows students to forge their own paths,” said Peter.

Kayla agreed, and said that she has aimed to immerse herself in the many opportunities available. “The high school offers so much, and it gives us the chance to pursue what we are most interested in.”

For both students, a combination of rigorous classes, extracurricular clubs and multi-season sports proved to be a recipe for success.

Peter found great satisfaction in his involvement with the high school’s Future Business Leaders of America club. “FBLA was something unique for me,” he said. “I joined as a freshman and gained experience through leadership conferences, networking and fundraising. I was able to develop skills in management, marketing and publishing.”

Beyond FBLA, Peter was an active member of the Mathletes Club, Student Government, Peer Leadership, Leos Club and the Green Team. He also enjoyed being part of the student-run technology help desk that was established this past winter.

For Kayla, joining the high school’s Science Research program was one of the most important elements of her high school experience. “The program exposed me to undergraduate-level research that led me to my passion – animal medicine/veterinary science,” she said. “I knew I would love all three years of the program.”

Kayla was also involved in FBLA, noting that she enjoyed networking and competing at the annual state leadership conference. She has been active in student government, the Green Team, HOSA (Health Occupations Students of America) and the SEED Club.

Peter is a member of the National Honor Society and Math Honor Society. Kayla has been inducted into the National Honor Society, Math Honor Society, Hispanic Honor Society and Science Honor Society.

Both Peter and Kayla participated on multiple athletic teams and described it as an important part of their Hendrick Hudson experience. During his years at the high school, Peter played basketball, track, baseball and soccer and served as varsity captain of both the track and soccer teams. Kayla has been a member of cheerleading, lacrosse, soccer, winter and spring track teams, earning All-League honors in both varsity soccer and varsity cheer and serving as captain of varsity soccer.

Both Peter and Kayla said the pandemic played an outsize role in their high school experience, with elements such as remote learning, masks and social distancing impacting portions of their freshman, sophomore and junior years. "This is actually the first year that's been normal for us," said Kayla. "We definitely didn't have a typical high school experience."

Peter said that remote learning meant that it took longer for friendships to develop and affected students' ability to get to know people from other grades. While he found academics to be challenging during the pandemic, he conceded that "it did help me to become more organized."

Peter will be attending the University of Rochester in September, noting that the school is known for its strong STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics) offerings. "It will be interesting to see how STEM can be applied to business in ways I haven't seen yet," he said.

Kayla will be heading to the University of California, Davis in the fall to pursue her passion for animal science, noting that the university has its very own farm, with resident pigs, cows and horses. "Hen Hud taught me that immersing yourself in what you love and whatever opportunity comes your way will help you find your place and yourself, which is something I will definitely carry on to college," she said.

HHHS Class of 2023 Sails Into the Future

The weather may have thrown the district a logistical curveball, with thunderstorms in the forecast, but nothing could diminish the excitement among students, staff, families, and friends during the Hendrick Hudson Class of 2023 commencement on June 16.

The ceremony was held inside the high school's dome, as opposed to the turf field, and district staff worked quickly to accommodate more than 1,000 seated guests, members of the high school's band and orchestra, and of course the graduating seniors.

The ceremony included musical performances by the high school's Senior Singers, band and orchestra. The National Anthem was performed by graduating senior Amya Davis, and the high school's alma mater was sung by rising senior Mia O'Malley.

Valedictorian Peter Kocek and Salutatorian Kayla Cohen each took to the podium with words of wisdom for their peers.

In her speech, Cohen talked about the pride she felt in achieving the title of salutatorian but also her discovery that there is much more to life than measuring oneself against others. "Your experience, your relationships, your character, your laughter. That is what matters," she said. "Look to do the little things. Not the best, biggest, most grand."

Kocek compared living one's life to writing a story. "Be the author of your story, because it's getting written anyway," he said. He encouraged his fellow students to embrace those moments that feel "larger than life" and concluded by advising them to "take the pen and write a new chapter today. You never know when the ink's going to run dry."

Acting Principal Anthony Giovinazzi, Board of Education President Alexis Bernard, and Interim Superintendent Dr. Dennis Lauro each stepped up to address the graduates.

Giovinazzi emphasized the importance of key values, such as kindness, respect, collaboration, and communication. "Kindness has the power to change lives," he said.

Bernard talked about being a Hendrick Hudson High School graduate herself. "I know what you are feeling. It is a mix of excitement and trepidation," she said. "Have no fear. Your years here at Hendrick Hudson have equipped you with the tools and skills and values to navigate this ever-changing world."

Lauro described many of the challenges members of the Class of 2023 have faced in recent years due to the pandemic, such as disrupted activities, online classes, and face masks. "Yet you endured and successfully met the requirements that permit you to sit here today," he said. "We all know it has not been easy, but also realize that it probably taught you a life lesson – that nothing comes easily. Work and effort are all a part of learning."

Lauro concluded by saying, "The future is yours. Make the best of it. You can achieve anything if you put your mind to it. Shoot for the stars - you can do it!"
