

ABOUT US

Since 2013, California State University, Fresno has been providing Parent University courses for school districts in urban and rural communities throughout California. Parent University has expanded the program beyond the Central Valley to include out-of-state initiatives. Parent University empowers children and their parents to achieve their educational and professional goals. The program has engaged over 70,000 parents to date. Participants not only acquire skills to enhance their home and family environment, but also gain career-oriented knowledge that assists them in advancing their education and careers.
