An aerial photograph of a large-scale construction project for a school building. The building is a complex of several interconnected rectangular structures with flat roofs. Some sections are already finished with dark grey or black exterior walls, while others are still under construction, showing the steel framework and blue roof panels. A large red crane is positioned on the left side of the building. The construction site is surrounded by dirt roads, parking areas filled with cars and trucks, and various construction materials like steel beams and concrete blocks. In the background, there are other school buildings, a baseball field, and a residential neighborhood under a clear blue sky.
