

The Penguin Project

The Corsicana ISD Penguin Project is a groundbreaking theater initiative where all roles are performed by students with developmental disabilities, showcasing their unique abilities and talents. These students are paired with dedicated "peer mentors" who work alongside them throughout rehearsals and performances, fostering collaboration and growth.

As the first school district in the United States to participate in this national program, Corsicana ISD is committed to creating a positive, inclusive environment that strengthens community bonds, builds student confidence, and promotes lasting cultural change. Through this empowering experience, the Penguin Project enables all students to shine and succeed.
