ASSOCIATING OBSERVATIONS OR EXPERIENCES TO AN ISSUE

- Educating from students' experiences or observations ain't so difficult.
- The difficulty? Connecting and articulating "issue."
- Early on, allow for some free-writing. Encourage students to discuss their ideas throughout the writing process. Often, students offer smart ideas to their peers.
- Writing is the result of _____.

THINKING

ONE SUCCESS STORY

“An ‘inside joke’ is still a joke and I was the butt of it. I was being laughed at, not with. I realized it’s my family’s and my people who others feel alright taking from. I would like my culture back, please.”

--M. Perez
