K-6 Visual Arts Overview

The Manhasset elementary art curriculum is the child's first formal experience with the many facets of making and understanding art. The language of drawing, painting, sculpture, ceramics, crafts, technology, art history and appreciation are all critical elements in early childhood development. Experienced individually or collectively these elements allow children to explore and interpret the world around them. - K-6 Manhasset Visual Arts Curriculum Guide

Essential Ideas in K-6 Art Education

Elements of Art

Line
A continuous mark made by a pointed tool such as a brush, pen or stick, a tracing point. (Start from the beginning to end.)

Shape
A flat, two-dimensional area that has length & width. Both organic and geometric shapes.

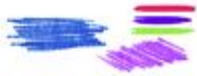

Color
Created by light. There are three properties or color that formed the basis of color: wavelength, brightness.

Value
Lightness or darkness of a color.

Form
Objects that are three-dimensional having length, width & height. They can be round, flat, square, cube, cone, etc. as space and volume.

Texture
The look or feel of objects. The surface quality of an object, can be real or implied.

Space
It refers to the area between objects. Space can be two-dimensional (flat) or three-dimensional (solid).

Surgery students 'losing dexterity to stitch patients' - BBC News

A professor of surgery says students have spent so much time in front of screens and so little time using their hands that they have lost the dexterity for stitching or sewing up patients.

Roger Kneebone, professor of surgical education at Imperial College, London, says young people have so little experience of craft skills that they struggle with anything practical.

"It is important and an increasingly urgent issue," says Prof Kneebone, who warns medical students might have high academic grades but cannot cut or sew.

"It is a concern of mine and my scientific colleagues that whereas in the past you could make the assumption that students would leave school able to do certain practical things - cutting things out, making things - that is no longer the case," says Prof Kneebone.

“Perception is, in the end, a cognitive event. What we see is not simply what we take from the world, but what we make of it.” – Elliot Eisner from Art and the Creation of Mind

K-6 Classroom Music

Three methodologies employed in classroom music

- Dalcroze
- Orff
- Kodály

Dalcroze Method

Eurhythmics - Teaching music through dance, body movement

Orff Method

- Percussion-based
- Instruments are arranged by type (metals, wood) and by voice (bass, tenor, alto)
- Promotes reading, basic musicianship
- Instruments are customizable based on musical needs/student ability

Kodály Method

- “Do - Re - Mi”
- Develops aural skills
- Fundamental method for sight-singing

Instrument Selection

Timeline and Process

- Process and partnership between students, parents, faculty
 - March/April - Pre-Assessment Gordon Intermediate Measures of Auditation
 - Students will meet with the band/orchestra teachers in small groups of 3-4 students.
 - The teachers will ask students about their prior musical experiences and ask students to identify 3 instruments that they are interested in trying.
 - Together, the teacher and student will find an instrument that they are interested in playing
 - Formal letters will be sent home via mail indicating the instrument selection for the following year and a supply list.
 - The letter will also include the names of local vendors for student instrument rentals.

Instrumental Rehearsals and Lessons

Rehearsals

- Large ensembles outside of the school day
- Development of ensemble skills, attention and concert preparation

Instrumental Rehearsals and Lessons

Small-Group lesson

- Groups of 2-5 students
 - Development of fundamental instrument technique, self-confidence, identifying individual student needs
 - Lessons are once a week for 30 minutes on an 8-week rotating schedule, ensuring that students do not miss the same instructional period each week.
