Science of Reading for School Librarians ~ Tools for Supporting Students and Collaborating with Teachers

Have you heard about the Science of Reading and wondered what it means for school librarians? Or maybe your school is aligning literacy instruction with the reading research and you are wondering how to support your students and their teachers on this journey. In this session, we will unpack what the Science of Reading is and is not and, more importantly, how you can apply it in your school. You will receive an extensive resource handbook including tips, tools, and strategies that you can implement immediately.

FactCite is sponsoring this day of PD, presented by Annemarie Johnson, Educational Literacy Consultant
