Unlock student potential with Cambridge CEM assessments

At Cambridge CEM we aim to support educators worldwide in improving educational outcomes in their schools by using evidence-based assessments to unlock their students' true potential.

We have over 40 years of experience developing and delivering digital baseline assessments.

Our baseline assessments help determine what individuals, classes, and cohorts already know and can do while supporting decisions on the best next steps. Our assessments provide the most accurate benchmark of student performance using over 600,000 assessments to standardise our data.

Our non-cognitive assessments support schools to understand the impact of wellbeing on learning in the classroom and to measure what matters for academic success.

We work with schools, ministries, and associations in over 110 countries to provide the powerful insight they need to help their students succeed.
