

Arborbrook Christian Academy

Portrait of a Graduate

Living Purposeful Lives Before God

Arborbrook graduates are servant leaders. Learning that Jesus came to serve and sacrifice, Arborbrook graduates implement the meaning of servant leadership in their school, community, and world.

Arborbrook graduates are thoughtful. They excel in thinking for themselves within the framework of a developing biblical worldview. They are equipped to solve problems and confront issues of the day with grace and discernment so as to glorify God.

Arborbrook graduates are relational. They learn how to contribute to and enhance their community by embracing connection and personal character development.

Arborbrook graduates are articulate. They are well read in classic and modern literature. They can speak publicly, write persuasively, and communicate effectively with confidence.

Arborbrook graduates are multi-faceted. Enjoying a robust liberal arts education, they are academically strong and intellectually curious, investing time in purposeful interests, appreciating art and what God has created in nature and science.

Arborbrook graduates are missional. They learn about the wide world around them and how they can directly help others locally and globally by sharing the good news of Jesus Christ through tangible acts of service.
