Mitchell Stem, a junior from North Pocono High School, has been nominated December Student of the Month by his Automotive Instructor, Mr. Brian Peck. “Mitchell has maintained an A average throughout his CTC career. He is an inspiration to his fellow students and always takes his time to help. He will be competing in the SkillsUSA District competition in January. Last year he was able to shadow the SkillsUSA students at last year's State competition”, stated Mr. Peck. While in the Automotive program, Mitchell has obtained his CAIS Snap-On multimeter certification, Lifting it Right NLI Certification, OSHA 10 safety certification, and ASE 609 certifications. He currently has a part-time job with RLE Equipment doing maintenance.

Mitchell is the son of Sally Below and Todd Stem. “I came to CTC to learn about automotive and how to diagnose and work on cars”, stated Mitchell. Mitchell is part of the Honor Roll and Gifted program at North Pocono. He enjoys ice hockey, fishing, hunting, and riding dirt bikes in his spare time. He is also a volunteer firefighter with the Gouldsboro Fire Department.

Upon graduation, Mitchell plans to continue his education.

Collin Reynolds, a Scranton Cyber senior, and a student in the HVAC program, has been nominated December Student of the Month by his instructor, Mr. Justin Kraft, and Co-Op Instructor, Mrs. Bonnie Baker. "Collin has shown a positive attitude throughout the past several months as we worked to secure him a job for Co-op. Collin worked for Remco out of Allentown, PA, and received glowing remarks from his supervisors and co-workers. Recently, Collin has switched his Co-op to TE Spall and has shown dedication, maturity, and flexibility as he has navigated starting a new job. In class, I can always count on Collin to participate, be on time, and be a leader. He is certified in EPA 608 up to Type 2, OSHA 10 construction. He feels he has not mastered anything as of yet, but tries his best to be that well-rounded person in the trade. Collin shows that he has a strong work ethic and is capable of difficult work at Remco and TE Spall", stated Mrs. Baker. Collin says, "I think I came a long way from when I first started at this school, I overcame a lot of obstacles and I just want to try to be the best in the trade and eventually teach others about the trade and how important it is in our everyday lives."

Collin is the son of Pat and Paul Reynolds. "I heard that the trades are going to be in high demand and that CTC offers to teach and I just found an interest in HVAC", stated Collin. He also enjoys history and business class. In his spare time, Collin likes to volunteer and play basketball.

Upon graduation, Collin plans to further his education at Penn Tech or go directly to work in the HVAC field.

Adam Robinson, a Lakeland HS senior, and a student in the Protective Services program has been nominated December Student of the Month by his instructor, Mr. Jonathan Coyne. “Adam is a true example of the students in the Protective Services program. He is an individual who can take the lead and work with his fellow classmates. A quiet individual when needed to be and an individual who will spearhead a project.”, stated Mr. Coyne. While in the Protective Services program, Adam has completed his First Aid/BLS, ICS 100, 200, 700, and 800. He also completed the BATH and PATH certs. He has already obtained his OSHA 10.

Adam is the son of Felicia and Travis Robinson. “I came to CTC to help better my education to aid me with my future career path of becoming a police officer”, stated Adam. At Lakeland, Adam is a member of the Lacrosse team and has helped with school events such as the Veterans Day Assembly. He is currently a Private second class in the PA Army National Guard. He is also a volunteer firefighter with Scott Hose Company Station 36.

Upon graduation, Adam will continue his career in the army as a Military Police Officer and eventually enroll in college to obtain a degree in Criminal Justice and join the PA State Troopers.
