

TAG PROGRAMMING

The Talented and Gifted Program (TAG) is Fulton County's gifted education program. In high school, TAG Participation is much more flexible than in the Middle School model. This helps students meet TAG requirements in a variety of ways!

Benefits of TAG

- TAG classes are taught by teachers with specific training in working with gifted students.
- Transcripts sent to colleges indicate that the student participated in Gifted Programming.
- The student can request additional advisement with the gifted teacher focusing on academics, scheduling/class selection, and some college planning.
- TAG electives Directed Study and Internship offer more choice and personalized learning during the school day.

TAG Participation

Most TAG students receive their TAG credit through Honors and AP courses that they would likely take regardless of TAG. These classes consist of both TAG and non-TAG students together with a trained instructor.

Advanced courses that count as TAG participation have a .2 course number. These classes have a lower class cap size and are taught by a teacher who has been trained to work with gifted students.

Not all honors or advanced classes are offered as TAG content classes. All of the AP courses at NSHS can be TAG participation, as can some honors courses for underclassmen. Dual Enrollment is also considered TAG participation. For a more details, you can check your (child's) schedule, or you can contact Ms. Pekatos.

Students may also participate in TAG through two gifted elective courses, Gifted Directed Study and Gifted Internship.
