The Phoenixes' Call

Volume VII: Issue

By MCEC Journalism

Academic Awards

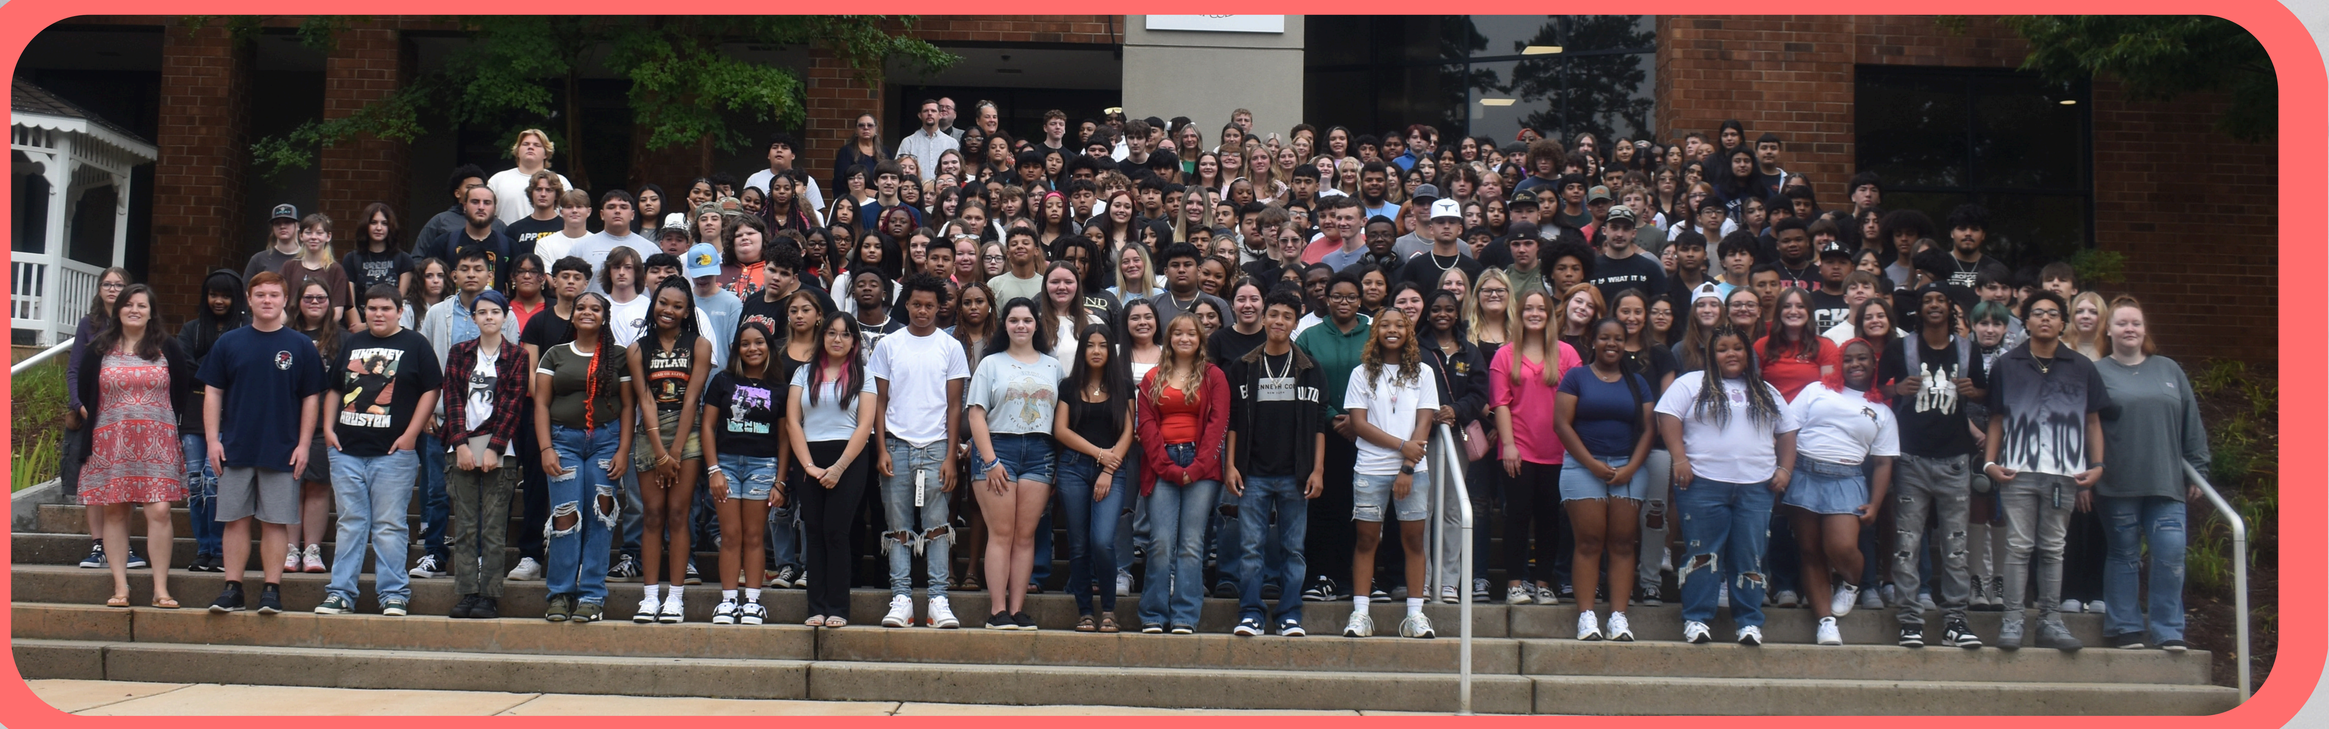

Academic Awards are given at the start of every year to congratulate our students for all the wonderful accomplishments made throughout the previous semester. The awards are given out at this time to demonstrate to ninth graders the standard we hold ourselves to here at Montgomery County Early College. Along with awards, we also participate in schoolwide games and contests, including a Senior Crown Competition. Students are encouraged to win competitions, which will earn feathers for their homeroom. The homeroom with the most feathers by the end of the school year gets a special reward for their class.

Welcome Back

After a long summer, we're proud to say that 'The Phoenixes' Call' is back in production. Newsletters will be issued outside Room 216 in the hallway and shared digitally every other week. We pride ourselves on the quality of not only the design but also the content of our work. We accepted this job to inform our peers of the exciting activities within our Phoenix community. With that, We hope you all enjoy our publication. We plan to improve with each print, so please bear with us.

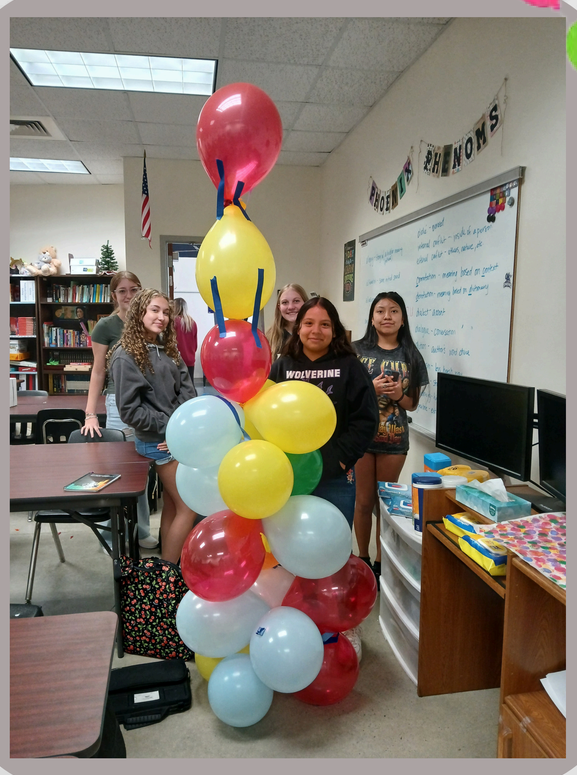

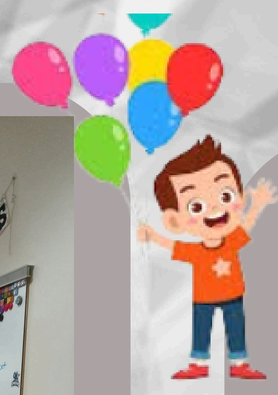

Orientation Weeks

Montgomery Community College began on August 26th, which gave early college students two weeks of school before their college classes began. Our school fills that time with orientation activities, held in the morning, that are used to encourage communication and fosters team-building among homerooms. Many activities take place during this two week period of time. Some highlights can be seen below.

Balloon Tower

The Balloon Tower activity challenges students to compete in small groups to stack balloons, creating the tallest tower while using only the supplies of tape and balloons provided.

Scrimmage Football Game

Montgomery Central was kind enough to invite us to their scrimmage football game, and we watched as the Timberwolves took on Union Pines. We cheered on our football team together, a showing of unity and comraderie.

Newspaper Fashion Show

One highlight of Orientation Week each year is the Newspaper Fashion Show. Students design clothing with only one condition: they may only use newspaper. Mrs. Hare's homeroom won the fashion show this year with a Mario outfit design.

