

The Phoenixes' Call

Volume 5| Issue 2| October 5, 2022

A Joyful Email!

Lemar Bennett recently received an email from a former student he worked with during his time in Teacher Cadet. Upon receiving the email he was struck with joy to the point of tears about what his former student said to him.

This sentimental email, while short, was enough to fill Lemar with joy. His former student is now in 5th grade, making Lemar immensely proud that he had such an impact to this degree for this student.

This is a reminder to all: appreciate those who go out of their way to teach you.

The Phoenixes' Call

Humans of MCEC

Phoenix Spotlight: Dakota Blake

This week’s Humans of MCEC is dedicated to Dakotah Blake, a Sophomore here at MCEC. When asked why she decided to attend MCEC, she said it was her dream to become a pediatric nurse practitioner so that she can help people and she feels that this school will help her achieve her goal. She enjoys this school for the fact that everyone is kind, and she feels that the environment is great for learning. Dakotah also states that the teachers do a great job. After completing her associate in science degree, her dream school is UNC Chapel Hill where she plans to continue her learning. Despite being a sophomore, Dakotah’s plans for the future are grand and she feels that she’s grown as a person, being more responsible now than ever. Dakotah is a prime example of Phoenix pride whose ambition is her greatest strength. She hopes to achieve her dream even though it will be a difficult road. To Dakotah, being a Phoenix is just the beginning. #PhoenixPhenom
