Humans of MCEC

Phoenix Spotlight: Andrew Ross

This week's Humans of MCEC is dedicated to Andrew Ross, who is currently a freshman here at the Early College. Andrew came to the early college because he heard about how considerably smaller the school is compared to a normal high school. He saw this as a great learning opportunity. With fewer students, teachers would be able to focus on helping him and the other students learn and thrive. He hopes to achieve a nice social status with his peers, as Andrew is a very social guy who is a part of many friend groups, and he even hopes to maybe make an impact on others around him.

Andrew came from West Middle, and while there he participated in band where he fell in love with playing music instantly. He has since continued his passion for music through band, playing an instrument called the Euphonium. Andrew's favorite classes as of now are Civics and World History as he enjoys learning about history, seeing it as more entertaining compared to other classes. Aside from all that, he sees himself getting into the tech industry, programming and maybe even creating games. In whatever Andrew decides to do with his life, we hope he continues his path of making an impact on the people and world around him. #PhoenixPhenoms

Just kick back and enjoy!

Thank you for reading The Phoenixes' Call! This publication was created completely by Montgomery County Early College students. We write, edit, and publish this work on our own. We are using this publication to showcase all of the wonderful students of MCEC and to show the community what it means to be a Phoenix. We apologize for any typographical errors or misspellings. Please see Ms. Heather Dunlap or Rodney Lamonds if you have an idea for a new story or if you would like to be involved.
