John confirmed and noted the selection will need to be approved as well. Lastly, the Town would then execute a contract with the chosen consultant, upon approval. Chairman Quarno commented on the assistance agreement, noting recommendations will be made to the town and commission regarding houses that meet the National Register of Historic Places criteria and John confirmed this understanding. Chairman Quarno then asked about later steps in the process, whether they will need to reach out to homeowners or what actions are then required, and John confirmed the commission can decide next steps at that time.

Commissioner Zielfelder asked what the project will cost. John responded that the grant is $20,000, which is anticipated to cover 100 homes. John added if there is subsequent funding and continued interest in the project, the commission could pursue more funding in the future. Commissioner Zielfelder then asked where the funding came from. Chairman Quarno replied the commission applied for and received a grant from the State Historic Preservation Office. Additionally, Chairman Quarno noted the inventory project comes at no cost to the town and supports a Plan of Conservation and Development objective. Chairman Quarno reiterated the commission will decide how to proceed once the inventory list is provided.

Valerie Amsel, representative from the Ad Hoc Trails Committee, commented on interest in a project along the same lines as this plan and asked who will pursue this work. John Colonese responded that the commission and town will hire a consultant to put together an inventory of the historic homes in town. Valerie then asked how long it will take for the inventory list to be complete. John stated the timeline will be dictated by the back and forth between the town, State Historic Preservation Office, and consultant. Chairman Quarno noted the waiting period of getting the project set up and running will take time. John will provide updates at future meetings.

2. Report - Farmland Preservation Program.

John Colonese said they did not receive any responses from the press release or publishing information in the town newsletter or on the website regarding the program. Chairman Quarno the asked Commissioner Gage if he has heard of any interest and the Commissioner responded no. John mentioned the farmland parcel priority list the commission worked on from 2022 and if that could be referenced to contact owners directly. Chairman Quarno asked for the list to be added to next month's agenda for further discussion.

3. Report - Open Space Preservation Program.

John Colonese shared there is nothing new to report on the open space preservation program. The priority list noted above includes open space and more discussion will continue at next month's meeting. John shared that he still has not heard back from one of the owners of property on Green Road after reaching out by phone and email and will follow up with Town Planner, Lisa Houlihan, as she was last to speak with the owner.

John Colonese noted for the budget line Dues & Subscriptions, there is an additional $390 available, the fiscal year was not correctly updated. Commissioner Nickerson asked if all donations and memberships are now complete, and John confirmed that only the Connecticut Farm Bureau remains.

2. Correspondence/Discussion:

a. Ad Hoc Ellington Trails Committee - Monthly Minutes.

Valerie Amsel, Ad Hoc Ellington Trails Committee representative, shared numerous updates. To start, the committee has three new members, all men which is a change in demographics and one new member will oversee the committee's Facebook page. The committee replaced a bridge at the Hockanum, with plans to replace two more this year. Windermere has been fully blazed. Valerie noted the committee will create a pamphlet or paper about how to blaze and it will be added to trail heads, as well as passed out at the committee's next event. The Highlands picnic area has been completed and blazed, in addition to some brush to potentially be cleared in the future. For the Batz property, game tables and bluebird houses have been added. In addition, a mowing plan has been established with public works for the property. Two gates were installed, one was added at Crystal Ridge and one at Highlands to keep motorized vehicles off private property. The committee had booths at the town Trail of Treats event and at the Historical Society. No hunting and motorized vehicles signs were installed at Windermere. Also, trail maps are now available at the Parks & Rec department. Lastly, a town committee may be formed for students to fulfil service hours with the committee. Valerie noted upcoming events are mentioned in the meeting minutes. Commissioner Zielfelder offered Valerie to reach out to him for help from the Scouts and Valerie accepted and noted the helpfulness of the Scouts in previous efforts.

John Colonese shared a response from Connecticut Department of Transportation (DOT) regarding a potential Shenipsit Trail crossing of Route 140, Crystal Lake Road Geometry Improvements. The response was shared with the commission and in summary, the DOT is working with the Connecticut Forest & Park Association regarding the trail. The DOT will not add a crossing due to a low frequency of users. However, the response and map were shared with the commission showing a pathway added at the intersection of Hopkins Road and RT 140, a small triangular piece of land along the state road, and the trail continuing along the backside of the guiderail. John commented it will likely be up to CT Forest & Parks Association to maintain the trail. John will send this plan and information to the Ad Hoc Trails Committee.

Grant/Project Work

Project Work Overview

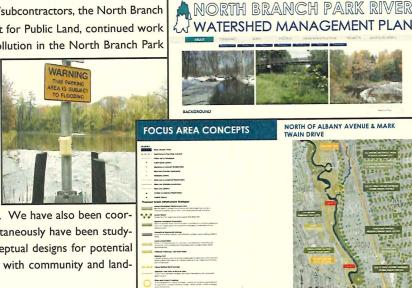

This fiscal year, NCCD made significant progress toward implementation of two very impactful water quality enhancement projects; updates provided below. In addition to these major projects, NCCD is also part of a statewide effort, partnering with all of the Conservation Districts in CT on a Long Island Sound Future Fund (LISFF) grant to incorporate social and environmental equity into our organizations and work. NCCD continued to assist CT Department of Agriculture (DoAg) by providing technical assistance for the Farmland Restoration program, specifically on flood-impacted farms. NCCD also has a grant through the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) to provide Conservation Technical Assistance (CTA) to assist the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), along with agricultural producers and landowners within our district, and we have been engaged in training and building staff capacity to provide meaningful assistance. As part of our ongoing watershed planning efforts, NCCD provides fiduciary support to the Bolton Lakes Watershed Conservation Alliance (BLWCA), and staff participates in monthly meetings. In support of the CT Department of Energy and Environmental Protection (CT DEEP), NCCD provides inspections of large solar array installations. NCCD has also initiated an outreach effort to promote Agroforestry, including assembling and distributing a newsletter to a growing database, giving educational presentations, and is planning a demonstration food forest.

North Branch Park River (LISFF)—The NCCD Project Team, including familiar partners/subcontractors, the North Branch Park River Watershed Coordinator and engineering firm Fuss & O'Neill, and newer partner/subawardee Trust for Public Land, continued work on a large planning project for the North Branch Park River. This project is entitled "Planning to Reduce Pollution in the North Branch Park River Watershed" and is funded via the Long Island Sound Futures Fund (LISFF), administered by the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF). Work includes a comprehensive update to the original 2010 Watershed-Based Plan, and development and design of high-impact green infrastructure and floodplain restoration projects. In addition to a typical report format, the plan update will also utilize a dynamic web format, as an accessible "living" version of the plan.

During this fiscal year, we were in the heart of the project, with regular meetings of our Project Partners, largely consisting of key municipal and agency stakeholders with technical involvement, and a Project Advisory Group, consisting of community groups and organizations and private landowners with interest and input to guide this planning effort. We are engaging the diverse community via meetings and site walks and outreach events within the watershed. This engagement has helped inform green infrastructure design strategies. We have also been coordinating and sharing data with The Metropolitan District Commission and the City of Hartford, as they simultaneously have been studying flooding issues in the watershed. Data collected by Fuss & O'Neill last year progressed into many conceptual designs for potential projects in the watershed, and we are now working to select several key projects for further development, with community and landowner buy-in. Project work is scheduled for completion by December 2024.

Milking herd accessing Kimboll's Brook, south of project site

Broad Brook Implementation (319)—NCCD staff has been working for years to help construct this consequential water quality project on a local dairy farm, amidst many compounding hurdles. The project will eliminate livestock access, and dramatically reduce pollutant loading, to a tributary of Broad Brook, which runs through the farm and milking herd pasture. A complete transformation in the management of livestock and agricultural waste on the farm is necessary to achieve this result, as identified in the Broad Brook Watershed Based Plan Phase 2 (completed by NCCD in 2017 using 319 funds, in partnership with CT DEEP, NRCS, and UConn Extension), and as further detailed by the NRCS during development of a Comprehensive Nutrient Management Plan. NCCD was subsequently awarded our largest Section 319 Clean Water Act grant (EPA funds locally administered by CT DEEP) to date in late 2020, to design and construct the project. These funds supplement NRCS Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) funds awarded to the farm.

The 319 project was divided into two contracts. The first, completed in FY22, was for development of an engineered design. The design yielded two primary structural solutions—a freestall barn with milkhouse, and a waste storage facility, to drive necessary changes in the management of land, animals, and waste on the farm. The freestall barn will contain the milking herd and their waste, away from the brook and riparian areas. Additionally, the waste storage facility will allow for collection and storage of manure and milkhouse waste until timing is suitable for spreading on fields. Implementation of this project will allow effective management of the farm's waste stream, to reduce nutrient and bacteria sources to wetlands and watercourses in the Broad Brook watershed.

The second 319 contract for construction of the project is still in progress, and has experienced delays, initially due to inflated costs associated with the COVID-19 pandemic. NCCD and the farm, with support from NRCS and CT DEEP, pursued multiple funding opportunities in pursuit of additional funding, both with CT Department of Agriculture (Climate Smart Agriculture and Forestry grant, and Farm Transition Grant), and with NFWF (LISFF). The farm received the maximum $49,999 award for the Farm Transition Grant during FY23, but we unfortunately were not awarded a Climate Smart Agriculture and Forestry Grant. We then pivoted and applied to the Long Island Sound Futures Fund (LISFF) through National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF) at the end of FY23. That brings us to this fiscal year, when we were elated to receive word that our project was selected for the full funding requested. Reinvigorated with sufficient funding, planning resumed at full force.

While this fiscal year marked monumental progress in terms of funding and planning, this new funding source created more obstacles. As LISFF is federal funding passed through a nonprofit organization (NFWF), NCCD as a pass-through entity is subject to many stringent federal contracting requirements, particularly related to procurement of subcontractors. We embarked on a very time-consuming and painstaking process of deciphering the federal uniform guidelines and developing a formal Request for Proposals with the necessary terms and conditions for a federal contract. The project went out to bid at the end of the fiscal year, and are working toward contracting.

Agroforestry Outreach—NCCD has been working NRCS with to promote agroforestry in Connecticut. NCCD led two field trips to educate NRCS staff on agroforestry practices at a chestnut orchard in Stafford. In addition to the training, our on-staff certified arborist facilitated a class, Agroforestry; Permaculture with Trees, for the UConn Extension Master Gardener Program in January. NCCD is the founding editor of Agroforestry Access, a periodical newsletter highlighting agroforestry events and articles; NCCD distributes the newsletter via email to a growing listserv.

NCCD, utilizing Clean Water Action Section 319 Nonpoint-Source funding via CT DEEP, is designing and will establish an Edible Riparian Buffer (ERB) on the Tolland County Agricultural Center (TAC) grounds along Gage's Brook, a tributary of the Tankerhoosen River. The ERB is also a food forest, an agroforestry practice, and an NRCS-recognized climate-smart practice. It will also be used as a demonstration planting to engage and educate community members about food forests and the importance of maintaining riparian buffers to preserve the health of waterbodies. The TAC grounds contain other demonstration gardens, maintained by the CT Master Gardener Program, and this will be a wonderful addition.

Solar SWPPP Inspections—This year, Connecticut's Conservation Districts continued to inspect solar sites under construction throughout the state for compliance with their individual Stormwater Pollution Prevention Plan (SWPPP) and the General Permit for the Discharge of Stormwater and Dewatering Wastewater from Construction Activities ("Construction General Permit") on behalf of the CT Department of Energy and Environmental Protection (DEEP) Stormwater Division. This partnership helps DEEP's Stormwater Division to regularly monitor installation of large, siting-council scale solar arrays across the state.

NCCD currently inspects four solar sites within its district, including two in Enfield, one in Ellington, and one in East Windsor. The East Windsor site is the largest in the state, including 500 acres of solar panels on an 800-acre site, yet has developed rather smoothly, and is nearing completion.

TOWN OF ELLINGTON
PLANNING DEPARTMENT

Town of Ellington Barbra Galovich PO Box 187 57 Main St Ellington, CT 06029-0187

Dear Ms. Galovich,

Your donation made protecting CT Farmland easier! Thank you so much for the gift from the Town of Ellington of $195 received on 1/23/2025. Thank you for believing and investing in the future of CT agriculture.

With your gift you have joined an energetic group of hundreds of people this year who have made it possible to preserve farmland and ensure new farmers have access to land. Even more importantly, the farmland preservation you make possible is a contagious activity.

"When you have one person in an area like this do preservation and people see that it's beneficial, they start to think of doing things they wouldn't have thought of - like protecting their own land." – Liz MacAlister, owner of Cato Corner Farm.

I will send you two print newsletters/year and I will sign you up for our email newsletter if you aren't already. In the next year, you will hear about more than just farmland conservation – you will hear how we connect our future generation of farmers to farmland.

Most of all, I want you to know that your contribution is making a difference throughout the year. Together we are changing lives.

If you'd enjoy talking more about CFT's work, or your own interest in farms, please contact me at kcartwright@ctfarmland.org or 860-247-0202, x223. I would enjoy talking with you.

Thank you again for your gift. Take care.
