About the Program

The program spans 5 days and centers around leadership activities, contextual problem solving, and group collaboration to generate inventive solutions to some of the most urgent challenges of our era. As a part of the program, participants will undertake a hands-on project with measurable outcomes.

The curriculum aims to provide a comprehensive and immersive experience for high school students to cultivate their leadership abilities, and connect with other like-minded individuals. Alongside the core curriculum, Harvard college students will provide a glimpse into college life, offer insights and tips on college admissions and applications, and share their personal leadership experiences and stories.

Key Benefits for Students

- Learn a systematic and comprehensive approach to solving real-world problems from trained and dedicated mentors
- Use data to quantify and validate your proposed solutions
- Forge life-long, value-rich networks with mentors
- Practice communication skills to effectively convey your recommendations
- Hone your thought process to become more analytical and creative
- Brainstorm practical methods to implement your solutions

About the Organization

Harvard Model Congress

Harvard Model Congress (HMC) at Harvard University stands as the world's largest congressional simulation conference, offering high school students an immersive and dynamic experience. With participation open to students from the United States and abroad, HMC presents a unique opportunity to engage in a realistic model congress simulation. The entire event is organized and run by our devoted team of Harvard undergraduates, ensuring a high-quality and impactful experience for all participants.

Mentors of Harvard Model Congress

"Matt is a junior in Eliot House. He studies Applied Mathematics and Economics alongside Environmental Science and Public Policy. He has previously served as the Secretariat for the Harvard Student Agencies MUN and is currently serving as president of the senate in Harvard Model Congress. He is currently working as a legislative director in the Massachusetts House of Representatives. In his senior year of high school, Matt was elected to the Massachusetts Board of Elementary and Secondary Education where he represented over 954,000 students, spoke at numerous education conferences, and was published in a national policy journal. In his free time, he can be found playing board games with his friends or playing the drums."

Matt Tibbitts
Senior Member, HMC Team

"Adrián is a sophomore in Pforzheimer House, studying Social Studies. He currently sits on the board of Harvard Model Congress's Boston conference and was previously a board member for their San Francisco branch. When he's not doing model congress, Adrián teaches speech and debate to middle schoolers and has worked alongside the Institute of Politics to advise the city of Cambridge on urban agriculture initiatives. In his free time, he writes poetry, reads fiction, and maintains a daily journal."

Adrián Muñoz Krans

“Nahla is a sophomore at Harvard. She hopes to study Government and Educational Studies and work in education policy after graduating. When she’s not working with Harvard Model Congress, you can probably find her rehearsing with Expressions (the hip-hop dance group), teaching 5th graders about civic engagement with the CIVICS program, or organizing events for the Institute of Politics.”

Nahla Owens

Senior Member, HMC Team

“Ryan is a sophomore at Harvard from Irvine, California studying Social Studies with a secondary in educational studies. Along with his role in HMC San Francisco, Ryan serves as the Director of Operations for Harvard Model Congress Boston. Outside of HMC, he enjoys teaching civics to fifth graders, film photography, and finding the best iced coffee in Boston.”
