The School District, through various media, publishes information to the community. In addition to traditional print media, this may include programs broadcast over local television outlets, websites and social media platforms. Such material may include student images, both identified and unidentified. The School District understands that there may be parents/guardians who wish to prevent the publication of their child's/children's images.

With the exception of the specific instances included in this policy, identified or featured images, whether identified or not, of students may be published unless the parent or guardian completes an opt out form at the start of each school year. An identified image publishes both the image and the name of the student. Featured images are those that are in the forefront and remain visible for more than a moment.

Where the Lincoln Public Schools publishes images of students at public events, no consent is required.
