

601.00.1 SECONDARY CREDIT FOR MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS

High school credits taken in middle school are meant to meet the individual student's academic needs.

A student who takes a high school course while in middle school will receive the high school credit for that course. To qualify as a high school course, the course must have the same syllabus and outcomes (standards) as the course offered as a SPPS high school course.

Both the middle and the high school transcript will show the qualified course(s) with the corresponding letter grade(s) (e.g. A-N), credit(s), and school year taken. However, the final grade will not impact the student's high school grade point average.
