 - a. January- Compassion

Natalia DiCicco Natalia is incredibly compassionate. She is always concerned about the well being of others in her class. She is a good friend, and will go out of her way to make others feel welcome. As we've been learning about Martin Luther King Jr. and his accomplishments, Natalia has contributed quite a bit to our class discussions. More than once, she has come back to school the next day to comment on something we learned the day before. She has told me that she continues our school discussions with her family, and has commented on how SHE thinks these events in history should have taken place, and how people should have been kinder to one another.	Scarlette McCleafe Scarlette is among one of the kindest, most altruistic students I have had in my time as a teacher. She truly is a friend to all. She will play with anyone, and help anyone who needs it. She never has an unkind word for anyone, and always finds something positive in everyone and every situation. I can always rely on Scarlette to encourage and build-up any peer who needs it. Her compassion and love for all those around her is contagious!	Madeline Keashen Maddie is kind to everyone and everything. She has a gentle, nurturing personality. She shows empathy for classmates, and has a love of animals.
Ethan Eames Ethan is a loving, kind-hearted, caring, and sweet little boy to everyone he meets and see throughout his day:) Ethan has a way of always bringing a smile to your face as he enjoys simply looking at his teachers and friends with a smile:) Ethan also enjoys being a helper in the classroom. Lastly, Ethan's excitable personality brings so much joy to the activities we do with our class:)	Mateo Teran Mateo consistently shows compassion and love to all of his classmates. He never hesitates to lend a hand to a friend or teacher. Thank you for being you, Mateo!!	Ava Latlip Ava has shown compassion time and time again standing up for other students. Ava is not afraid to stand up for what is right. She is always known to cheer on her fellow peers and her energy is contagious!! Love, Mrs. Atkinson
