Home Letter

Respect – Grade 5

Dear Families/Caregivers,

We are learning about social cues and how they can help us understand people. Understanding people can support students in respecting others.

Supporting Your Child in Understanding Social Cues

- Talk about social cues and how they help us understand people and their emotions, which helps us know how to care about their feelings. Invite your child to identify facial expressions and body language.
- Play a game of social cue charades, acting out different facial expressions/ body language and what they could mean.
- When reading a book or watching a show together, invite your child to identify the social cues of the characters. Challenge them to think about how the character might feel.

Thank you for your support.

RethinkEd © 2024