

Francis D. Millet

Class of 1936

Frank Millet attended Harvard after Middlesex, and after a brief period of teaching elementary school in New Mexico, he joined the faculty at Milton Academy in 1942. He remains there today, having served the school in nearly every possible role imaginable. He has taught English and Classics, coached football, baseball, and squash, and served in the Admissions Office. In recognition of his six decades of service to Milton, he was awarded the Milton Medal in 2002.

