

C. KEVIN LANDRY Class of 1962

Excerpt from the 2012 Distinguished Alumni Award Ceremony:

“While at Middlesex, Kevin Landry distinguished himself in many ways. He was elected football captain, was a hockey letterman, a member of the Student Council, a reporter for the Anvil, and a basso profundo in the Glee Club. The Class of 1962 yearbook describes Kevin as “one of those rare individuals whose performance in any field is always well above average, and sometimes spectacular.” How prophetic those words proved to be!

Kevin graduated from Harvard in 1966 and later earned an M.B.A. from the Wharton School of Finance at the University of Pennsylvania in 1968. Upon receiving his M.B.A., Kevin joined the venture capital firm T.A. Associates. Four years later, he became general partner and in 1983, was named managing partner and CEO of the firm. Under his tutelage, the firm invested in countless highly successful companies, displaying what the Boston Globe described in 1990 as “the Midas touch, breathing money and life into most of the great Massachusetts start-ups of the 1960s, 1970s, and 1980s.

In addition to great success in the world of finance, Kevin has also been a pillar in the community, nowhere more so than right here at Middlesex School. Kevin joined the Middlesex Board of Trustees in 1975 and apart from a brief hiatus, he served the
