

Li Chung Pei Class of 1968

Sandi Pei was known as the school's best photographer while at Middlesex. He went on to graduate magna cum laude from Harvard and also received a Master's degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Design. Sandi had been recognized as one of America's preeminent architects. From 1976 to 1992, he practiced at I.M. Pei & Partners before establishing Pei Partnership Architects, where he has served as the lead architect on more than two dozen prominent buildings around the world.
