

Rev. Edwin M. Ward

Class of 1945

Ed Ward went on to Emory University after Middlesex and subsequently earned a degree from the Virginia Theological Seminary. He then served as Vicar of three missions in rural Alabama until 1959, when he became Chaplain at St. Mark's School. In 1965, he was named Headmaster of Salisbury School, where he served with distinction until 1981. Ed went on to become Headmaster at St. Stephen's School in Alexandria, Virginia for nearly ten years and finished his career as Head of the Flint Hill School in Oakton, Virginia from 1990-1992. He now serves as Associate Rector for St. Luke's Church in Hilton Head, South Carolina.

