Madison Elementary School is hosting a Social Emotional Learning Night for its students and families on Thursday. At the SEL Family Night, guests will engage in activities designed to help them connect with their emotions and better understand how to interact with them.

The event will feature a meal of pizza, cookies, and water and stations with activities designed to help students' Social Emotional Learning. The stations include conversation dice, gratitude challenges, family talk, emotional regulation games, and more.

Last week, Madison students worked on their social-emotional skills during the school day during SEL-ebrate Kindness week. The week featured lessons on managing and understanding emotions and theme dress-up days. At the Family Night, students will get to expand upon the skills they learned last week and share those lessons with their families.
