Students Receive Invitations to NHS

On Thursday, February 20th, officers of the RHS National Honor Society hand-delivered invitations to students who are invited to apply for induction this year. In order to qualify, students must have earned at least a 3.5 cumulative unweighted GPA and must currently be in good academic standing. Students who received invitations must submit their applications to Mrs. Maher by 1:00 PM on Friday, March 7th.

Freezin' for a Reason: Plunge for a Good Cause

On Friday, February 21st, Mrs. Lutska, Mrs. Leasure, and Ms. Kenney, along with sixty RHS students, leapt into a pool of frigid water to participate in this year's Polar Plunge. The event was held outside of Acrisure Stadium in Pittsburgh. Overall, they raised $1,086.00 to help support the Special Olympics.

Students Experience Hands-On Lungs Learning

Last week, students in College in High School Anatomy and Physiology participated in their annual cadaver lab visit with their cooperating school, Carlow University. In addition to the lab, students got to explore the campus and experience several of their respiratory therapist laboratory activities.

Students Test Science Knowledge

On Saturday, February 22nd, members Chaz Kelly, Sam Mizia, Sarah McIntosh, and Mia Racioppi of the RHS Science Club traveled to the CCAC South campus to participate in the regional Quiz Bowl competition, which was sponsored by the Department of Energy. The students competed against multiple western Pennsylvania school districts in a STEM-based trivia competition.
