5. Overview of Materials Review Process

Dylan Bullard

- There was an overview of how the materials are set up for display in the room. Each product has an information sheet with an item number on it to identify each product.
- Each committee member has been assigned a number to use when filling out their rubrics so that their responses are kept confidential.
- For access to review online materials, login codes are kept in a notebook and are available to the committee for viewing the online materials submitted.

6. Overview of Public Review Process

Dylan Bullard

- The materials are officially on “public display” starting today, until May 13, 2025.
- The physical materials can be viewed as well as online materials.
- The public can access a Google Form via a QR code to make comments on the products.

7. Review of Materials

Dylan Bullard

- The committee was divided into 2 groups and started reviewing the materials.
- Completed rubrics are to be turned into Dede Johnston, to be recorded onto a google sheet. The recorded rubrics were returned to each committee member.
- Each campus will be receiving a pallet of sample materials so that teachers/ students can review the materials. Teachers not on the committee and students will be asked to give feedback and rate the materials via the QR code.
