Introduction: What is Title IX?

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972

“No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.”

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

Tennessee v. Cardona (2024)

“On the basis of sex” means “that recipients of federal funds under Title IX may not treat a person worse than another similarly-situated individual on the basis of the person’s sex, i.e., male or female.”

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

Brief History of Title IX

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 was passed on June 23, 1972. In the two years preceding the passing of Title IX, debates about discrimination against women and education were raging in Congress, especially regarding the quality of athletic opportunities available to women compared to their male counterparts. Over time, the scope of Title IX has expanded to include sexual misconduct that occurs in a district's educational programs or activities.

At its conception, Title IX was designed to prevent discrimination against women in educational institutions, including in scholastic athletics. However, it's important to remember that at the core of the legislation -

Title IX applies to both boys and girls (students), men and women (employees)

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

Intersection Between Title VII and Title IX

- Employees have the same rights as Students under Title IX.
- Employees also have rights under Title VII.
- The two have different, but similar standards, for sex harassment:
 - Title VII: “severe or pervasive”
 - Title IX: “severe, pervasive and objectively offensive”
- Unlike Title IX, Title VII protects employees from harassment and discrimination on the basis of their sexual orientation and gender identity.

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

The Pennsylvania Human Relations Act

Title IX regulations codify protections nationwide for public school students and employees from discrimination based on their sexual orientation and gender identity (including transgender status). However, even if an injunction is placed on these regulations, Pennsylvania state law still protects the rights of these students and employees.

In December of 2022, Pennsylvania issued new regulations under the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act providing legal protections for transgender individuals. The regulations open the door for the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission to consider and adjudicate claims that a student has been denied opportunities in a school by reason of their gender identity.

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

The Pennsylvania Human Relations Act

“Sex” is a protected class is undefined under the PHRA. Pennsylvania courts have consistently held that the PHRA is to be interpreted consistently with federal anti-discrimination law.

§ 41.206. Sex discrimination.

The term “sex” as used in the PHRA and the PFEOA includes all of the following:

- Pregnancy.
- Sex assigned at birth.
- Gender, including a person’s gender identity or gender expression.
- Affectional or sexual orientation, including heterosexuality, homosexuality, bisexuality and asexuality.
- Differences of sex development, variations of sex characteristics or other intersex characteristics.

Answer 5

Yes, Dottie may be allowed to play for the football team.

Title IX does not prohibit female students from playing on a men's team in a contact sport.

Title IX allows school districts to exclude female students from a men's team in a contact sport, but, if the district decides to allow female students to participate on that team, they may do so.

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

Who Enforces Title IX?

The U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights (OCR)

The Office for Civil Rights (OCR) is responsible for enforcing:

- Title IX
- Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (which prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color and national origin);
- Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (prohibiting discrimination on the basis of handicap);
- the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 (prohibiting discrimination on the basis of age); and
- Portions of the Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990 (prohibiting discrimination on the basis of disabilities).

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

Who Enforces Title IX?

The U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights (OCR)

OCR enforces Title IX by investigating complaints, conducting compliance reviews, and providing technical assistance. An institution found to violate Title IX (or any of the regulations enforced by OCR) has the opportunity to remedy the violation voluntarily. OCR is required by federal law to seek a voluntary resolution.

If an institution refuses to remedy the violation, then OCR may pursue one of two courses of action: initiate administrative procedures to terminate federal funding to the institution; or refer the case to the U.S. Department of Justice to pursue enforcement in federal court.

Introduction: What Is Title IX?

What Does OCR Look For?

Complaints alleging a violation of Title XI

At the conclusion of an investigation, OCR will determine, with regard to each allegation, whether:

- There is insufficient evidence to support a conclusion that the recipient failed to comply with the law, or
- A preponderance of the evidence supports a conclusion that the recipient failed to comply with the law.

Title IX: Requirements

What does Title IX Require?

- Designation of Title IX Coordinator
- Dissemination of Policy
- Adoption of Grievance Procedures
- Records Retention
- Training Requirements

Title IX: Requirements

Designation of Title IX Coordinator

Each recipient must designate and authorize at least one employee to coordinate its efforts to comply with its responsibilities under this part, which employee must be referred to as the “Title IX Coordinator.”

Deputy Title IX Coordinators may be identified to assist the Title IX Coordinator in ensuring the school district’s compliance with Title IX.

The district must make the name or title, office address, electronic mail address, and telephone number of the employee designated as the Title IX Coordinator widely available (on website, in handbooks, notices, policies, etc.)

- Practice tip: create a generic email address for the Title IX Coordinator (ex. TitleIX@SchoolDistrict.org). This helps ensure the contact information posted remains correct and no reports fall through the cracks if there is a transition at the Title IX Coordinator position

Dissemination of Policy

The school must adopt, publish, and implement a policy stating that the recipient does not discriminate on the basis of sex and prohibits sex discrimination in any education program or activity that it operates, as required by Title IX and the regulations, including in admission and employment.

Notice must be posted prominently on the school's website, in each handbook, catalog, announcement, bulletin, and application form.

The school must provide notice of nondiscrimination to students, employees, applicants, Unions, and other listed persons, with specific components including how to locate the recipient's nondiscrimination policy and grievance procures and to report conduct that may constitute sex discrimination.

Title IX: Requirements

Adoption of Grievance Procedures

PSBA Title IX Policy

Title IX: Requirements

Training Requirements

Title IX Coordinators, Investigators, Decision Makers, Informal Resolution Mediators must receive training on:

- The definition of sexual harassment;
- The scope of the recipient's education program or activity;
- How to conduct an investigation and grievance process including hearings, appeals, and informal resolution processes, as applicable;
- How to serve impartially, including by avoiding prejudgment of the facts at issue, conflicts of interest, and bias;
- Technology to be used at a live hearing;
- Issues of relevance of questions and evidence, including when questions and evidence about the complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant; and
- Issues of relevance to create an investigative report that fairly summarizes relevant evidence.

Title IX: Requirements

Requirement to Make Training Materials Public

“All materials used to train Title IX Coordinators, investigators, decision-makers, and any person who facilitates an informal resolution process. A recipient must make these training materials publicly available on its website, or if the recipient does not maintain a website the recipient must make these materials available upon request for inspection by members of the public.”

34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D)

Records Retention

A district must maintain for a period of seven (7) years records of—

- B. Any appeal and the result therefrom;
- C. Any informal resolution and the result therefrom; and
- D. All materials used to train Title IX Coordinators, investigators, decision-makers, and any person who facilitates an informal resolution process. A recipient must make these training materials publicly available on its website, or if the recipient does not maintain a website the recipient must make these materials available upon request for inspection by members of the public.
- E. Records of any actions, including any supportive measures, taken in response to a report or formal complaint of sexual harassment.

Title IX: Roles

Title IX: Roles

Who is involved in the Title IX Process?

- Title IX Coordinator
- Title IX Investigator
- Decision Maker
- Appellate Decision Maker
- Informal Resolution Mediator

Preliminary Tasks: Appointing Deputy Title IX Coordinators and Assigning Roles

First, a District should determine how many Title IX Coordinators are appropriate for its school community. Smaller Districts may choose to appoint just one Coordinator for all complaints. Larger Districts may choose to have a Title IX Coordinator assigned to student matters, another for employee matters, and perhaps another for athletic issues. If a District chooses to have more than one Title IX Coordinator, one employee should be designated as the Title IX Coordinator and others should be designated as Deputy Title IX Coordinators who report to the Coordinator. We also recommend establishing this structure early, making the names and contact information for all available on the District's website, and making sure all Coordinators are fully trained.

Second, a District should assign individuals to the roles of investigator, decision-maker, mediator, and appellate decision-maker. You may have a small bank of individuals prepared to serve in these roles. We recommend all individuals receive training on investigator and decision-maker if the District wishes to take advantage of the simplified process under the new regulations.

Title IX Coordinator

The Title IX Coordinator oversees compliance efforts and investigate any complaints of sex discrimination. Districts must designate a professional employee as the Title IX coordinator to oversee compliance efforts and investigate any complaints of sex discrimination. All students, employees and parents/guardians must be notified of the name, office address, and telephone number of the designated Title IX Coordinator.

Primary Responsibilities of the Title IX Coordinator:

- Develop a working knowledge of the federal Title IX law and its implementation regulations. Keep informed of current developments and legal and judicial decisions related to Title IX and gender equity.
- Be informed about state laws, regulations, and policies on issues including bullying and harassment, and child abuse laws.
- Be knowledgeable of federal and state laws (such as ADA, Section 504, IDEA) prohibiting discrimination against all protected classes and assist whenever possible.
- Manage the Title IX Grievance Procedure from start to finish, ensuring persons in each role have received the adequate training.
- Make sure the school community has easy access to the District's policies related to Title IX.
- Communicate with parents during incidences which could result in a formal Title IX complaint.
- If relevant to your District, manage the Deputy Title IX Coordinators.

Title IX Coordinator: Dismissal of Title IX Formal Complaints

- The Title IX Coordinator shall dismiss a Formal Complaint under Title IX if none of the allegations, if true, would meet the definition and parameters of Title IX sexual harassment within the District's jurisdiction.
- The Title IX Coordinator may dismiss a Formal Complaint under Title IX if:
 1. A complainant provides written notification of withdrawal of any allegations or of the Formal Complaint.
 2. The respondent is no longer enrolled or employed by the district in a district program or activity.
 3. Specific circumstances prevent the District from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination as to the Formal Complaint or allegations.

Title IX: Roles

Title IX Coordinator: Establishing a System of Organization and Tracking

Title IX issues can get messy. A Title IX Coordinator is responsible for keeping all the details and moving parts organized and easily accessible.

Your system of organization should include:

- Complainant Information
- Respondent Information
- Reported conduct
- Outside reports
- Witness information / testimony
- Timeline of Incident based on info derived from the investigation
- Communications tracking / meeting notes
- Evidence Organization List
- Title IX Analysis
- Conclusive Action

The image shows a screenshot of an Excel spreadsheet titled "Title IX Administrative Tracking Tool" for "Stock and Leader". The spreadsheet is organized into several sections:

- For official use only: A header section at the top.

Title IX Coordinator: Record Keeping

Good Organization Helps Fulfill Recordkeeping Obligations.

- The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for maintaining all required records;
- The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for ensuring training materials are publicly available on the website;
- The Title IX Coordinator should develop a process for required recordkeeping and include a list of all properly trained investigators and decision-makers.

Title IX Investigator

The Investigator bears the burden of gathering evidence in order to:

1. Determine if the sexual harassment allegations meet Title IX standards, and
2. Provide the Decision-Maker with evidence with which to base the written determination of responsibility at the end of the grievance procedure.

The Investigator is responsible for conducting interviews with all parties and witnesses, sharing investigative evidence with all parties for their review, and writing the investigative report. The investigative report cannot recommend a determination for the Decision-Maker.

The Investigator cannot have a conflict of interest with, or bias for or against, any member in the proceedings.

Title IX Investigator

The Investigator is tasked with conducting the “Big ‘I’ Investigation,” which requires that they gather evidence the decision maker will use to determine if allegations meet Title IX standards for sexual harassment.

The Investigation may include:

- Interviewing and collecting the statement of the Complainant
- Interviewing and collecting the statement of the Respondent
- Interviewing and collecting statements from staff and student witnesses
- Collecting outside reports (if law enforcement is involved)
- Requesting and collecting digital or video evidence
- Develop as detailed a timeline of the incident as possible, supported by facts gathered
- Follow up on all leads, especially if not initially identified as a person of importance

Title IX Investigator

Maintain Neutrality

- The investigator should conduct the investigation at every step from a neutral position. This includes using neutral language, providing each party's position equal effort and consideration, following up on claims by each party, and more.

Equal Treatment of Parties

- Throughout the investigative process, the Investigator should ensure that parties have equal opportunities at every step to:
 - Inspect and review evidence,
 - Invite their respective advisors to the interviews, and
 - Present witnesses and evidence.

Confidentiality must be maintained throughout the process.

Decision Makers

The Decision-Maker is effectively the judge of Title IX cases.

Decision Makers:

- Monitor the questioning and cross-examination process and identify irrelevant questions;
- Weigh the evidence to determine if it meets the school's standard of sexual harassment allegations; and
- Produce a written statement to both parties describing the outcome.

Decision Makers

- Conduct an objective evaluation of all relevant evidence – including both inculpatory and exculpatory evidence.
 - Inculpatory evidence: Evidence that shows or tends to show that a respondent violated Title IX.
 - Exculpatory evidence: Evidence that shows or tends to show that a respondent did not violate Title IX.
- Afford each party the opportunity to submit written relevant questions that a party wants asked of any party or witness, provide each party with the answers, and allow for additional, yet limited, follow up questions for each party.
- Make a judgment call regarding whether questions are relevant and explain the reasoning for excluding questions.
- Weigh the evidence and make judgment calls on credibility.
- Determine if a Respondent is responsible for a Title IX violation.
- Draft a written determination.

Informal Resolution Mediator

- Informal Resolution is a voluntary process where the parties agree to the resolution of a Formal Title IX Complaint.
- All informal resolution discussions must be facilitated by a Mediator.
- As they facilitate the informal resolution, the Mediator's role is to:
 - Ensure an equitable and fair process.
 - Serve as a “neutral” facilitator.
 - Allow each party to feel empowered and heard.
 - Encourage and guide meaningful dialogue between the parties towards an amicable resolution.
 - Help uncover the parties' underlying needs and interests.
 - Serve with impartiality, free from prejudgment of the facts at issue, conflicts of interest, and bias.
- The mediator has no authority to render a resolution - only the parties do.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Potential Responses to Trauma

It's important to remember that you may be interacting with students or employees who are demonstrating responses to trauma. It's important to handle this with care.

- Delayed reporting
- Difficulty remembering specifics
- Trouble self-regulating
- Reluctant reporting
- Remaining in a relationship with the Respondent
- Failing to identify the accused
- The alleged victim thinks they are to blame and somehow they welcomed the behavior
- Justifying the rationale of the incident

Title IX: Training Requirements

Confidentiality Requirements

Title IX Confidentiality Requirements Mirror FERPA

The investigator should make every effort to protect the identity of the witnesses and other students involved, especially if the student receives special education services.

The Department notes that the Title IX regulations only require a recipient to provide the parties with the opportunity to access evidence that is relevant to the allegations of sex discrimination and not otherwise impermissible. – Commentary to the 2024 Regulations, p. 226

Privileged Information (Not Relevant or Admissible)

The following is evidence that cannot be collected by the Investigator (nor can the Investigator ask questions about the following):

- Evidence that is protected under a privilege or confidentiality,
- Records made or maintained by a physician, psychologist, or other recognized professional in connection with treatment, and
- Evidence relating to the complainant's sexual interests or prior sexual conduct.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Standards of Evidence

Districts may choose which standard of evidence they would like to apply to all Title IX complaints for students and employees:

- Preponderance of the evidence standard: A fact is more likely than not to be true.
- Clear and convincing evidence standard: A fact is highly probable to be true.

“State whether the standard of evidence to be used to determine responsibility is the preponderance of the evidence standard or the clear and convincing evidence standard, apply the same standard of evidence for formal complaints against students as for formal complaints against employees, including faculty, and apply the same standard of evidence to all formal complaints of sexual harassment”

34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(1)(vii)

Title IX: Training Requirements

Issues of Relevance

The District must ensure that “all relevant questions and evidence are admitted and considered (though varying weight or credibility may of course be given to particular evidence by the decision-maker).” The rules of evidence do not apply, and a District may NOT exclude relevant evidence.

What is Relevance?

The Preamble to the regulations indicates that it may include: evidence that is “probative of any material fact concerning the allegations [...] evidence pertinent to proving whether facts material to the allegations under investigation are more or less likely to be true (i.e., on what is relevant).”

In Layman's Terms, Please?

The easy way to understand it is by asking yourself:

Does this [question I’m asking / topic I’m introducing / evidence I’m evaluating] move the dial under the standard of evidence?

Title IX: Training Requirements

Advisors or Support Persons for Witnesses

Provide Equal Access to Advisors and Support to All Parties

The investigator must provide parties the same opportunity to be accompanied by the advisor of their choice.

- Nothing in the preamble prohibits support persons in the interview process.
- The Investigator is allowed to limit participation of advisor in process.
- Whatever rules your District selects, apply them equally to both parties.

- Define the Scope of Investigation:
 - What elements do you think will be disputed?
 - What elements will be agreed upon?
 - Are there any holes in your understanding of the incidents that you need to fill?

Begin your Organization

- How are you going to keep track of all the files of evidence?
- Take into account that evidence files could be written, email, audio, video, etc.
- How are you going to keep track of the timeline of events?
- If there is a criminal investigation, work with law enforcement to collect and preserve evidence.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Investigation Techniques

Begin your Witness List

- Who should be included?
- Who should not be included?
- In what order should the witnesses be interviewed?
- Do you need to follow up with some witnesses?

Craft Questions for Each Witness

- Refer to the applicable policy and code of conduct
- Consider what information the witness is likely to have related to each element of the policy requirements
- Consider what information the witness is likely to have related to each element of the Title IX requirements
- Consider what information the witness is likely to have that may assist the decision-maker in determining credibility
- Be flexible!

Title IX: Training Requirements

Investigation Techniques

Organize What You'll Need for the Interview

- What should you have with you?
 - Intake Report
 - Written notice with allegations
 - Investigation log
 - Investigation notes cover sheet
 - Pre-prepared questions
 - Evidence you may need to reference or show witness
 - Policy or Handbook

Title IX: Training Requirements

Investigation Techniques

Setting Up The Interview

You must now provide any party whose participation you seek, with written notice (email) with “sufficient” time to prepare:

- Date
- Time
- Location
- Participants
- Purpose of interview or meeting

34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(5)(v)

- Identify yourself, your role, and a general outline of what you’re investigating.
- Make introductions
- Be hospitable
- Give an overview of what to expect
- Explain retaliation policy
- Invite questions

Title IX: Training Requirements

Investigation Techniques

Begin the Interview Broadly

Begin a shared monologue about the incident.

- What happened earlier that day before the incident?
- What happened regarding the incident?
- What happened next?

Ask the witness to “freeze” on certain moments to dive into details:

- What could you see? Feel? Smell? Taste? Hear?
- Where was the other person? How were they positioned?
- Where were you? How were you positioned?
- What did you say to the other person?
- What did they say to you?
- Describe other person’s tone, demeanor, body language.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Investigation Techniques

Ask Follow Up Questions

Re-Review your notes. Do you have any areas of confusion or was anything ambiguous?

Re-Review the elements of each charge. Did you miss something?

- Have you elicited all of the information this witness might have about each element?
- Do you understand how the witness obtained the information they shared?

Don't be afraid of silence! Take your time to make sure you do / don't have follow up questions.

Ask Questions to Test Credibility

- Gather facts to assist decision-maker
- Ask questions to test memory
- Identify where the witness may corroborate or contradict their testimony, or other witnesses, and physical evidence
- Be sensitive to potential trauma experienced by witnesses

Title IX: Training Requirements

Investigation Techniques

Closing the Interview

- Request copies of all evidence potentially available to the witness.
- Discuss confidentiality, but do not prohibit a party from discussing allegations.
- Inform the witness of next steps in the process.
- Give them full information about how to reach you.
- Invite them to reach out if they have anything further they remember or would like to say.
- Thank them for their time.

(Immediately) After the Witness Leaves

- Update the Investigation log, or whatever you're using to keep organized.
- Review notes in full and make corrections and clarifications where needed.
- Update witness list.
- Update list of evidence to be obtained.
- Write down questions to ask other witnesses based on what you learned.
- Consider whether there are additional allegations you need to bring to the attention of the Title IX Coordinator.

Title IX Grievance Procedures

Title IX: Training Requirements

Important Definitions

Formal Complaint

“[A] document filed by a complainant or signed by the Title IX Coordinator alleging sexual harassment against a respondent and requesting that the recipient investigate the allegation of sexual harassment.”

- “At the time of filing a formal complaint, a complainant must be participating in or attempting to participate in the education program or activity of the recipient with which the formal complaint is filed.”
- The Formal Complaint must include the complainant's physical or digital signature
- The complaint can be made by the alleged victim, guardian, or Title IX Coordinator.

34 C.F.R. §106.30

Title IX: Training Requirements

Important Definitions

Complainant

Complainant means any individual who is alleged to be the victim of conduct that could constitute sexual harassment.

Respondent

Respondent means an individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of conduct that could constitute sexual harassment.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Important Definitions

Supportive Measures

Supportive Measures are “non-disciplinary, non-punitive individualized services offered as appropriate, as reasonably available, and without fee or charge to the complainant or the respondent before or after the filing of a formal complaint or where no formal complaint has been filed. Such measures are designed to restore or preserve equal access to the recipient's education program or activity without unreasonably burdening the other party, including measures designed to protect the safety of all parties or the recipient's educational environment, or deter sexual harassment.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Important Definitions

Supportive Measures

Supportive measures may include:

- counseling,
- extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments,
- modifications of work or class schedules,
- campus escort services,
- mutual restrictions on contact between the parties,
- changes in work or housing locations,
- leaves of absence,
- increased security and monitoring of certain areas of the campus, and
- other similar measures.

The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for coordinating the effective implementation of supportive measures.

Title IX: Training Requirements

The Obligation to Act and Timeliness

When are a school's obligations to act under Title IX triggered?

A school with actual knowledge of sexual harassment in its education program or activity must respond promptly in a manner that is not deliberately indifferent.

A school is deliberately indifferent only if its response to sexual harassment is clearly unreasonable in light of the known circumstances.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Knowledge by Employees / the District

Actual Knowledge

“Actual knowledge means notice of sexual harassment or allegations of sexual harassment to a recipient's Title IX Coordinator or any official of the recipient who has authority to institute corrective measures on behalf of the recipient, or to any employee of an elementary and secondary school.”

Title IX: Training Requirements

Jurisdiction

Schools have jurisdiction over sexual harassment and/or sex discrimination occurring under their education program or activity in the U.S., including conduct that is subject to the school's disciplinary authority.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Confidentiality Requirements

The general rule is that the district must keep confidential the identity of any person who has reported sexual harassment, or who has been reported to be a perpetrator of sexual harassment.

There are three exceptions:

1. If disclosure is permitted under FERPA;
2. If disclosure is required by law; or
3. If disclosure is necessary to carry out the purposes of Title IX and its regulations, including to conduct a grievance process.

“The recipient must keep confidential the identity of any individual who has made a report or complaint of sex discrimination, including any individual who has made a report or filed a formal complaint of sexual harassment, any complainant, any individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of sex discrimination, any respondent, and any witness, except as may be permitted by the FERPA statute or FERPA regulations, or as required by law [...].” 34 C.F.R. § 106.71

Title IX: Training Requirements

Confidentiality Requirements

A desire to meet the obligations of FERPA cannot be used as a reason for not complying with the requirements of Title IX.

The commentary for the new regulations clearly state, “To the extent that a conflict exists between a recipient’s obligations under Title IX and under FERPA, § 106.6(e) expressly states that the obligation to comply with the Title IX regulations is not obviated or alleviated by the FERPA statute or regulations.”

Supportive Measures

The recipient must maintain as confidential any supportive measures provided to the complainant or respondent, to the extent that maintaining such confidentiality would not impair the ability of the recipient to provide the supportive measures. In other words, the regulations prohibit disclosures about supportive measures to persons other than to whom the supportive measures apply.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Emergency Removal

The school (i.e. Title IX Coordinator) must undertake an individualized safety and risk analysis and determine that a student respondent poses an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of any student or other individual arising from the allegations of sexual harassment justifies removal.

The Respondent must be provided with notice and an opportunity to challenge the decision immediately following the removal.

Emergency Removal:

- Is meant to be a last possible resort;
- Is generally rare;
- Should be well documented (how was this conclusion reached?);
- Should be executed with the information needed to facilitate a challenge to the action.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Administrative Leave

The school may place an employee respondent on administrative leave during the pendency of a grievance process.

All applicable Collective Bargaining Agreement (“CBA”) provisions must be followed when placing an employee on administrative leave.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Discipline

“A recipient's response must treat complainants and respondents equitably by offering supportive measures to a complainant, and by following a grievance process before the imposition of any disciplinary sanctions or other actions that are not supportive measures, against a respondent.”

34 C.F.R. §106.44(a)

“[A recipient shall] describe the range of possible disciplinary sanctions and remedies or list the possible disciplinary sanctions and remedies that the recipient may implement following any determination of responsibility.”

34 C.F.R. §106.45(1)(vi)

Title IX: Training Requirements

Discipline

Key Takeaways:

- A District may not impose discipline on a respondent until a determination has been reached regarding the allegation of sexual harassment.
- Instead, a District should offer supportive measures.
- Supportive measures may not be punitive.
- Supportive measures may not deprive a student access to the educational environment or benefit of service.

Discipline Considerations for Students with Special Education Needs:

- A manifestation determination is still needed in Title IX procedures.
- The regulations require that for students with established special education needs, the IEP or Section 504 team be involved in the grievance procedure.
- Student information must be protected under the privacy provisions of the IDEA.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Timelines

Districts must provide “reasonably prompt time frames for conclusion of the grievance process, including reasonably prompt time frames for filing and resolving appeals and informal resolution processes if the recipient offers informal resolution processes...”

2. Occurred in a district program or activity under the control of the district and against a person in the United States.
3. Involves other Board policies or the Code of Student Conduct.
4. Indicates, based on an individualized safety and risk analysis, that there is an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of an individual.
5. Involves a student identified as a student with a disability under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act or Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Title IX Procedure Overview and Timeline

PSBA Policy 103/104, Attachment 2

Step 3: Title IX Coordinator Determines Applicable Policy, cont. (Approx. 1-2 days)

If the result of the initial assessment determines that none of the allegations fall within the scope of Title IX sexual harassment, but the matter merits review and possible action under the Code of Student Conduct or other Board policies, then the Title IX Coordinator shall redirect the report to the appropriate administrator to address these allegations.

Title IX: Training Requirements

PSBA Policy 103/104, Attachment 3

Step 3: Title IX Coordinator Determines Applicable Policy, cont. (Approx. 1-2 days)

If the result of the initial assessment determines that the allegations may constitute Title IX sexual harassment, the Title IX Coordinator shall promptly explain to the complainant the process for filing a formal complaint and to inform the complainant of the continued availability of supportive measures with or without filing a formal complaint.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Title IX Procedure Overview and Timeline

PSBA Policy 103/104, Attachment 3

Step 5: Formally Identify the Persons in Each Role (Approx. 1 day)

The District should follow the three-role process and appoint a separate investigator, decision maker, and appellate decision maker for the entire matter. The Title IX Coordinator cannot serve in any of these roles.

Communicate to whomever is identified to serve in each role.

The person appointed for the role in this matter must have been trained on how to serve in this role.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Title IX Procedure Overview and Timeline

PSBA Policy 103/104, Attachment 3

Step 6: Investigation (20 days)

The designated investigator shall work with the Title IX Coordinator to assess the scope of the investigations, who needs to be interviewed and what records or evidence may be relevant to the investigation.

Step 7: Investigative Report (10 days)

The investigator shall draft an investigative report that fairly summarizes relevant evidence and shall provide the investigative report to all parties and to the designated decision maker.

Prior to the completion of the investigative report, the investigator shall:

1. Send to each party and the party's advisor, if any, the evidence subject to inspection and review in electronic or hard copy format.
2. Provide the parties at least ten (10) school days following the receipt of the evidence to submit a written response
3. Consider the written response prior to finalizing the investigative report.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Title IX Procedure Overview and Timeline

PSBA Policy 103/104, Attachment 3

Step 8: Written Determination and District Action (Approx. 10 days)

A written determination of responsibility must not be finalized less than ten (10) days after the investigator completes the investigative report and provides it to all parties.

Before the decision-maker reaches a determination regarding responsibility, the decision-maker shall afford each party the opportunity to submit written, relevant questions that a party wants to be asked of any party or witness, shall provide each party with the answers, and shall allow for additional, limited follow-up questions from each party.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Title IX Procedure Overview and Timeline

PSBA Policy 103/104, Attachment 3

Step 9: Appeal Process (20 days)

Districts must offer both parties the right to appeal a determination of responsibility and the right to appeal the district's dismissal of a Title IX Formal Complaint or any allegation in the Title IX Formal Complaint.

Written notice of a party's appeal shall be submitted to the Title IX Coordinator within ten (10) school days after the date of the written determination. Notice of appeal shall include a brief statement describing the basis for the appeal.

The designated appeal authority will issue a written decision setting forth the respects, if any, in which the written determination is modified and the rationale for the results within ten (10) school days.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Retaliation Prohibited

Retaliation is prohibited at all stages of the Title IX grievance procedure and following its conclusion.

“No recipient or other person may intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by title IX or this part, or because the individual has made a report or complaint, testified, assisted, or participated or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or hearing under this part.”

What Constitutes Retaliation?

“Intimidation, threats, coercion, or discrimination, including charges against an individual for code of conduct violations that do not involve sex discrimination or sexual harassment, but arise out of the same facts or circumstances as a report or complaint of sex discrimination, or a report or formal complaint of sexual harassment, for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by title IX or this part, constitutes retaliation.”

34 C.F.R. §106.71(a)

How to Serve Impartially

Title IX: Training Requirements

How to Serve Impartially

The Title IX regulations require that any individual designated by a recipient as a Title IX Coordinator, investigator, decision-maker, or any person designated by a recipient to facilitate an informal resolution process, receive training on “how to serve impartially, including by avoiding prejudgment of the facts at issue, conflicts of interest, and bias.”

Impartiality

Impartiality is defined as not supporting any of the sides involved in an argument. The regulations and commentary to the regulations indicate that Title IX considers “impartiality” to be the avoidance of:

- prejudgment of the facts at issue,
- conflicts of interest, and
- bias.

Title IX: Training Requirements

How to Serve Impartially

Prejudgment of the Facts

Prejudgment of the facts can be defined as:

- To judge beforehand without possessing adequate facts, or to judge prematurely without sufficient reflection or investigation.

Coordinators, Investigators and Decision-Makers should not immediately assume they know what happened in a case, despite “signs” that suggest one side or the other is telling the truth.

Prejudgment often occurs when investigators and decision-makers adhere to sex-based stereotypes about males and females. Decisions should be made based on individual facts, not stereotypical notions of what males and females do or do not do. Additionally, Prejudgment often occurs when allegations involve sexual conduct, sexual history, drugs, and/or alcohol use.

Title IX: Training Requirements

How to Serve Impartially

Conflict of Interest

Conflict of interest can be defined as:

- When a personal or private interest (e.g. family, friendship, financial, social, etc.) compromises one's judgement, decisions, or actions.

Coordinators, Investigators and decision-makers may run into issues of conflict of interest when their personal interests or relationships conflict with their ability to act in a neutral manner with regard to a complaint against a faculty member, staff member or student. A conflict of interest arises when an individual working on a particular Title IX matter is prevented from being impartial.

Title IX: Training Requirements

How to Serve Impartially

Bias

Bias can be defined as:

- A tendency, inclination, or prejudice toward or against something or someone.

Biases are often based on stereotypes, rather than actual knowledge of an individual or circumstance. Biases are cognitive shortcuts that can result in prejudgments that lead to rash decisions or discriminatory practices.

Relevance of Questions and Evidence

Title IX: Training Requirements

Issues of Relevance

The District must ensure that “all relevant questions and evidence are admitted and considered (though varying weight or credibility may of course be given to particular evidence by the decision-maker).” The rules of evidence do not apply, and a District may NOT exclude relevant evidence.

What is Relevance?

The Preamble to the regulations indicates that it may include: evidence that is “probative of any material fact concerning the allegations [...] evidence pertinent to proving whether facts material to the allegations under investigation are more or less likely to be true (i.e., on what is relevant).”

In Layman's Terms, Please?

The easy way to understand it is by asking yourself:

Does this [question I’m asking / topic I’m introducing / evidence I’m evaluating] move the dial under the standard of evidence?

Title IX: Training Requirements

Issues of Relevance

Questions and evidence about the complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant, unless:

- such questions and evidence about the complainant's prior sexual behavior are offered to prove that someone other than the respondent committed the conduct alleged by the complainant, or
- if the questions and evidence concern specific incidents of the complainant's prior behavior with respect to the respondent and are offered to prove consent.

Writing the Investigative Report

Title IX: Training Requirements

Writing the Investigative Report

The Final Report is a fair summary and presentation of all relevant evidence.

34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(5)(vii)

In general, the Final Report should:

- Evidence fairness
- Be factual
- Proceed chronologically
- Include a well-labeled appendix for important evidence

The Final Report will be what the Decision-Maker uses to issue a final determination.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Writing the Investigative Report

Before You Begin Writing: Consider Your Organization

How are you going to organize your report?

Potential organization strategies for the Final Report:

- Chronological
- By topic or by allegation (chronological within each topic or allegation)
- By chronology of how the information came in to the investigation
- By witness statement

Organize Your Evidence:

- Organize the pieces of evidence in chronological order or in an order that makes sense for the Final Report
- Number the pages of the evidence packet
- Label each piece of evidence (for example: “1,” “2,” “2(a),” “2(b)”)
- Make an appendix table of contents if the evidence is extensive

Title IX: Training Requirements

Writing the Investigative Report

Part I: Short Summary of the Complaint and Party Information

Summarize the nature of the complaint.

Describe all the individuals involved.

- Complainant
- Respondent
- Investigator
- Witnesses

Title IX: Training Requirements

Writing the Investigative Report

Part II: Introduction of Basic Preliminary Information

Description of charges

How did the complaint make its way to an investigation?

Witnesses Interviewed

Witnesses Not Interviewed (and why)

The procedure followed, step-by-step

Any procedural anomalies that need explained?

Explain your organization structure:

Example:

“The information in this report is a summary of the facts as agreed upon by the parties and the witnesses. Where there is a difference in the accounts, it is noted in the report. For the sake of clarity, the report is organized chronologically and by subject matter when appropriate.”

Title IX: Training Requirements

Writing the Investigative Report

Part III: Summary of the Undisputed and Disputed Information

Recount the undisputed facts.

- Series of numbered sentences

Recount the disputed facts.

- Series of numbered sentences

Make sure you have facts for each element of each charge.

Part IV: A Statement Regarding Relevant Evidence

Example: “All relevant information gathered during the course of the investigation has been included in this report.”

Identify if you thought something was irrelevant if you included it anyway. Include a note for the Decision-Maker, and reference the evidence label to draw their attention to it.

Title IX: Training Requirements

Writing the Investigative Report

Part V: Alleged Policy Violation

- Provide the definition of prohibited conduct alleged from applicable Policy
- Provide the related definitions as appropriate (e.g. consent, incapacitation) or any code of conduct included if done together
- Include the text of the policy or code of conduct verbatim, in entirety

Part VI: Presentation of the Investigation

- This is the bulk of your Final Report
- Follow the organization structure you chose
- Factually summarize all relevant evidence
- Include citations to the evidence in parenthesis (Example: “Student A called the teacher. (Evidence 2, p. 13).”)

Informal Resolution Process

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Informal Resolution Process

PSBA Policy 103, Attachment 3

Any time after a Formal Complaint has been filed, but prior to reaching a determination of responsibility, if the Title IX Coordinator believes the circumstances are appropriate, the Title IX Coordinator may offer the parties the opportunity to participate in an informal resolution process, which does not involve a full investigation and adjudication of the Title IX sexual harassment complaint.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Informal Resolution Process

Depending on the situation, a voluntary informal resolution with a Mediator may be appropriate.

- An Informal resolution is permissible in lieu of the investigatory process.
- After a formal complaint is filed.
- When the Title IX Coordinator deems informal resolution appropriate.
- When the parties give voluntary, informed, written consent to attempt informal resolution.

34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(9)

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Limitations to the Informal Resolution

- Not every Title IX issue can (or should) be resolved through the informal resolution process.
- Schools cannot offer or facilitate informal resolution to resolve allegations that an employee sexually harassed a student.
- Schools cannot require or pressure the parties into an informal resolution process.
- The informal resolution process must have reasonably prompt timeframes.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

What is Mediation?

Mediation involves the intervention of a third person, or mediator, into a dispute to assist the parties in negotiating jointly acceptable resolution of issues in conflict.

- The mediator meets with the parties at a neutral location where the parties can discuss the dispute and explore a variety of solutions.
- Each party is encouraged to be open and candid about his/her point of view. The mediator facilitates the consideration of alternatives and options that the parties might not have considered.
- The mediation session is private and confidential.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Written Notice Requirement

The option for an informal resolution will be introduced by the Title IX Coordinator. If the parties want to pursue this route, the District must provide written notice to the parties disclosing the:

- Allegations.
- Discussion about the availability of informal resolution.

The written notice must include the requirements of the informal resolution process:

- Voluntary participation without coercion.
- The circumstances that preclude the parties from resuming a formal complaint.
- Notice that the parties can withdrawal any time before a resolution agreement is reached.
- Facilitation by neutral, objective and trained facilitator.

34 C.F.R. §106.45(b)(1)-(2)

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Written Notice Requirement

Written notice should include the consequences from participation in the informal resolution process:

- An explanation of the records that will be maintained or that could be or could not be shared.
- Iteration that records relating to informal resolutions and the result thereof must be maintained for at least seven (7) years.
- Notice that if a resolution is reached, the Formal Complaint concludes, and Parties abide by terms of resolution.
- Notice that if a resolution is not reached, the Formal Complaint returns to the formal Grievance Process.

Written notice should also include a description of the types of resolution available (dependent on the situation):

- Remedies-based resolution
- Respondent accepts responsibility
- Mediation
- Restorative justice
- Arbitration

Written Notice Requirement

Additionally, there are several additional recommended disclosures:

- Whether there is confidentiality within the informal resolution process.
- Whether the facilitator will be called as a witness in the formal grievance process if informal resolution fails.
- Facilitator's right to end the mediation for good reason.
- Notice that the Title IX Coordinator may reject any agreed-upon resolution if it is unreasonable or inequitable.
- Any right to appeal.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Documents Needed for Mediator

The Mediator should have three key documents to conduct the informal resolution:

1. The Notice of Allegations
2. The District's Title IX policy
3. Voluntary Agreement to Resolve Formal Complaint by Informal Resolution

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Cases Amenable / Not Amenable to Informal Resolution

Generally Amenable

- Hostile environment sexual harassment cases between employees or between students where little to no power differential.
- Lower-level sexual assault cases.
- Sexual assault cases resulting from miscommunication.
- Dating/domestic violence cases where mutual harm is alleged.
- Stalking potentially connected to a mental health or personality disorder.

Generally Not Amenable

- Physical or threatened violence
- Predation
- Intimidation
- A dangerous pattern of conduct
- Where the power differential between the parties, under the circumstances, could exacerbate the harm.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Characteristics of a Title IX Mediation

Title IX mediations are:

- Voluntary,
- With informed consent,
- Facilitated by a neutral mediator, and
- With outcomes controlled by the parties.

Types of Mediations:

- Facilitative - conducted by third-party neutral with no authority to propose a solution or opine on issues.
- Evaluative - conducted by third-party neutral who may give opinions and propose solutions.
- Title IX Hybrid – facilitative with measured evaluation and proposal of solutions.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Mediation Techniques

Pre-Mediation Contact with the Parties

- Email the parties to set up a pre-mediation conference.
- Use neutral language when communicating with parties.
- Don't overload the parties with information.
- Pre-mediation conference should be 2-5 days before the mediation.
- Inform all parties of their ability to have support at the mediation and pre-mediation conference (it can be an attorney, but is not required)
- Memorialize all contact in emails.

Pre-Mediation Conference

- Introduce yourself and explain your role.
- Try to get to know the parties if you don't already.
- Gently explore where they are comfortable / not comfortable.
- Go over the information in the written notice (such as freedom to withdraw from mediation)
- Explain that compromise is part of the process.
- Ask them if they have any questions.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Mediation Techniques

Pre-Mediation Preparation

- Read all materials (NOIA, voluntary agreement to participate, policy).
- If possible, outline strong facts and weak facts for Complainant.
- Determine how to structure the mediation.
- If possible, determine expectation of parties.
- If the Mediator is not the Title IX Coordinator, the Title IX Coordinator may have helpful information about resolution options.

Pre-Mediation Evaluation

- What are the undisputed facts? Who, if either, do the facts favor?
- From your Pre-Mediation Conference, where do you think each party stands?
- What are the core issues?
- Where might compromise be achieved?
- What are the respective party's objectives?
- What might the ultimate agreement look like? Are there multiple options for an outcome?

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Mediation Techniques

Prepare the Mediation Environment

- The mediation space should be neutral and accommodating, such as a conference room.
- The space should ensure total confidentiality, such as having a door one can close.
- Each party should have a separate space sufficiently separated from the other party.
- If the mediation is virtual, each party can be separated into different meeting rooms in the same meeting. The Mediator, as host to the meeting, will have the ability to navigate between the two.
- Joint caucus should only be used in rare circumstances.

Strong Communication Skills

- Characterize but don't criticize
- Clarity
- Emotional control
- Simplicity is more important than complexity
- Facts are foundation to persuasion
- Eye contact
- Relaxed tone
- Avoid negative body language, verbal reactions, or facial expressions

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Mediation Techniques

Begin the Mediation

Meet with Each Party Separately

- Re-establish connection and establish credibility of the parties
- Discuss any outstanding questions from the pre-mediation conference
- Remind parties of the purpose of the mediation
- Re-introduce the process and expectations for the mediation.

Shape the Issues for the Parties

- Share what you understand the issues to be.
- Probing whether we can achieve an "agreed" outcome.
- Session is not whether complainant can prove her/his/their allegations.
- Facts are Important!

Search for Shared Values

- Do each hope an agreement can be reached?
- If agreement reached, what if any relationship will exist with the other party?
- Are there underlying interests?
- What are goals for the future?

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Mediation Techniques

Facilitate the Mediated Conversation

- Neutrally convey the positions of the parties.
 - “He/She understand the severity of this situation.”
- Empower the parties to accurately convey their continued positions throughout the conversation.
 - “What do you want me to say to him/her/them about the concern you continue to have?”
- Facilitate a discussion about a potential solution and their reasoning for it.
- Offer subtle opinions in a non-judgmental way.
 - “I know you don't want to agree to these restrictions but if we don't reach an agreement, you risk more severe restrictions imposed by others.”
- Ultimately massage a path to a solution based on agreements the parties arrive at through mediated conversation.

Title IX: Informal Resolution Process

Mediation Techniques

Fact Exploration Techniques

Ask General Narrative Questions:

- Encourage the party to open-up, vent, and articulate.
- Allows story to be told.
- Rarely will there be a need for interrogation on the who, what, when, where, why, how, describe, explain, tell, etc. when parties feel empowered to narrate their perspective.
- Understand the relationship between the parties.
- Obtain enough facts to assess strengths and weaknesses of the case.

Ask Probing Questions:

- Ask for additional facts if needed to evaluate a case's strengths and weaknesses.
- Explore feelings, opinions, and thoughts.

- Address contested facts head-on.

Move the Parties Toward the Goal

- “Do you think it will be more comfortable for you to move classes?”

Constantly Suggest a Solution Outcome

- “Your concern is seeing the person each day, so, if you change science classes do you think you’d see them less often?”
