What is Project SEARCH?

Project SEARCH is a unique business partnered transition program for students with disabilities. It is targeted for students whose main goal is employment and will benefit from career exploration.

The cornerstone of the one school-year program is total immersion in a workplace of a large business. Students learn employability and job skills while participating in a variety of unpaid work experiences with the goal of competitive community employment.

Assistance with individualized placement occurs based on the student's experiences, strengths and skills. Students access accommodations, adaptations and on-the-job training and support.

Each day, students report to the "host business" and learn employability skills in a classroom with a certified teacher and job skills trainer while participating in three work experiences during the year. Students participate in regular progress meeting to define their career goals and plan necessary steps to achieve those goals. Job Skills Trainers provide training during each work experience, while department supervisors and managers receive feedback from Project SEARCH staff co-workers and supervisors.
