Course Description:
This course builds on foundational painting skills with an emphasis on techniques in tempera, watercolor, acrylics, and mixed media. The art elements and principles of design will be used with emphasis on color, composition, and drawing as they relate to painting. Themes relating to art history will also be incorporated along with criticism and aesthetic awareness. In addition, students will be involved in research and written assignments. This course has a $5.00 lab fee. $10 LAB FEE
Course Rationale:
Painting has been a form of visual communication since the beginning of human history. Visual literacy will be addressed by producing paintings that record individual ideas, political and social views, and daily personal images. Through sketches, direct observations, or photographic resources, students will transfer their ideas into concrete images. Throughout the course, students will become acquainted with celebrated painters, their styles, and techniques. Painting develops visual literacy, dexterous abilities, two-dimensional problem-solving skills, and media understanding.
