I would like to announce a new style of EF Educational Tours that we will have here at Kiser for the upcoming summer 2025. This new opportunity will be a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) focused trip to the Azores islands off the coast of Portugal. With this being a STEM trip, there will be a large component of scientific research and learning by students while collaborating with scientists from this area of our world. If you are interested in getting more information, and possibly signing your child up for this amazing opportunity, please attend the information session with Mr. Sandeen on October 18th at 5:45pm, in room A108
