The Media Center at Summerfield School is a resource center for all staff and students. It is open for browsing, research and circulation each day. Each class comes to the media center for a time of instruction at least every other week. Teachers use flexible scheduling for additional activities, such as research, silent reading, viewing videos and DVD's, special programs, storytelling and projects. The media program is integrated with curricular areas for each grade level.

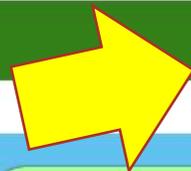

Our library catalog of materials is now online! You can search for books, any time, any where. Summerfield Destiny

The screenshot shows the Follett Destiny Discover interface for Summerfield Elementary School. At the top, the logo and text "Follett Destiny Discover | Discover" are visible. Below that, a navigation bar shows "Summerfield Elementary School". The main search area features a search bar containing the text "caves". To the right of the search bar are two buttons: "Search" and "Search Options". A dropdown menu is open below the search bar, displaying a list of search suggestions: "caves", "Calves", "Birthday cakes", "bunny cakes", "Staffs (Sticks, canes, etc.)", "stick dog craves candy", "Captain Awesome saves the winter wonderland", "cave dwellers", "cave of wonders", and "Judy Moody saves the world!". A yellow arrow points to the search bar, and another yellow arrow points to the "Search" button. The background of the interface is dark blue with a star pattern. Notice the number of results. These are all types of media – books, ebooks, DVDs, etc.

So, let's look at a few of these in our search results. All items are "IN". That means that no one has them checked out.

But let's look closer. Look at the bottom of each item. This will give you a clue about what type of media the item is.

The image displays three library catalog items, each with a call number and a description of its media type. The items are arranged horizontally from left to right, with yellow arrows pointing from the first to the second, and from the second to the third.

- Item 1: A video cover for "Disney Presents BILL NYE THE SCIENCE GUY". The call number is 551.4 018. The description is "Not a book or ebook."
- Item 2: An ebook cover for "Caves" from the "Learning About Landforms" series. The call number is 551.4 018. The description is "An ebook, you can open it or check it out." The bottom of the cover features "Open" and "Checkout" icons.
- Item 3: A print book cover for "CAVES and CAVERNS" by Gail Gibbons. The call number is 551.4 018. The description is "A print book (found on the shelf). The call number is showing."

A DVD, for teachers to check out.

Ebook icon, no call number is given.

Print book, you would find on the shelf. Call number is given.

You can click on each item to flip it over for more information. Pay attention to the icon you see at the bottom. If you click "More Details", you can read a summary.

Notice the flag at the top of each of these items. One is "IN" and available for checkout. One is "OUT" and not available.

The image shows two book covers and a details card. The first book, 'ONE CHILD, ONE SEED' by Kathryn Cave, has a green 'IN' flag at the top and a call number of 513.2 CAV at the bottom. The second book, 'RAINBOW FISH AND THE SEA MONSTER'S CAVE' by Marcus Pfister, has a red 'OUT' flag at the top, a call number of E PFI at the bottom, and a 'Hold' button. A details card for the second book shows the title, author, call number, and a 'More Details' button.

I can put the "OUT" book on hold. I do need to know what type of item this is – an ebook or a print book.

Because I see a call number, I can tell that this is a print EVERYBODY (E) book.

“More Details” button will give you a summary and more options about the book. I can also put the book on hold here.

For right now, please don't put print books on hold. Once we get back to "Face-to Face" school, this is how you will choose books to checkout! So get familiar with this process so that you are ready!

However, you can put eBooks that are "OUT" on hold.

I can use Filters on the side to narrow my search and save me time. And I can make sure I get what I really want.

You have learned how to do a Quick Search! We will learn how to do more advanced searches soon.

Spend some time with Destiny and get familiar with how it works and the information that you see.

When we return to school, you will need to put a book on hold through Destiny in order for Mrs. Harris to pull it and check it out to you. More information to come....
