Stanford Site Observation Policy

Stanford Parents/Guardians

Stanford parents and guardians are welcome to observe their students' classroom, and are required to schedule an observation time with the classroom teacher with a minimum of 24 hours' notice. Parents/Guardians are to sign in the main office and wear a red visitor sticker. Administration will accompany the parent to the classroom for the observation. The observation is limited to one 60 minute period per month.

Stanford parents and guardians who wish to observe a classroom that is not their student's must get permission from the site administration (principal or counselor). The parent/guardian must state in advance the reason for the observation. Once permission is granted, the parent/guardian would schedule an observation time with the classroom teacher with a minimum of 24 hours's notice. The observation is limited to a 60 minute period per month.
