FFA WEEK

Today is our final day of FFA week while in school. Today is “National Wear Blue Day”, but we sort of skipped it by accident. We wear blue to honor our nation’s flag, representing the Union across the members and the pride we get from being in it. The “Gift of Blue” program stems from this pride by students applying for free jackets and reinforcing the symbol of belonging. The FFA jacket became a symbol in 1933, and was officially adopted as part of the uniform at the 1933 national convention. Today’s activity is wheelbarrow relay races in the quad!
