

Greetings,

I think to say that we are all looking forward to the four day weekend is an understatement! It's been quite the start to the school year and it seems like we've gone through a whole year's worth of stuff in just these past few weeks. Needless to say, I believe this break could not come at a better time and in kind, I will keep this message brief. I too am looking forward to a little reprieve.

I also want to say Shanah Tovah to all of our Jewish friends, community members and families as we observe Rosh Hashanah, or the New Year which begins the first day of the Hebrew month of Tishrei, ushering in 5785 according to the Jewish Calendar. I'm happy to be a part of a blended family which observes so many fantastic holidays and traditions.

Whether you are Jewish or not, please make the best of the extended weekend. Decompress, relax, and continue filling your cup. As always, I am appreciative of everyone's efforts and really feel privileged to serve you all as the superintendent of schools.
