Los Tres Pilares del Programa de Doble Inmersión The Three Pillars of Dual Language

"Sociocultural competence - seeing the similarities and differences in each other and seeing those differences as opportunities to connect, rather than obstacles to overcome." - Dr. José Medina

What is Dual Language?

Dual language education is a form of instruction in which students learn literacy and content in English and another language. Beaverton School District Dual language immersion programs begin in preschool/Kindergarten and extend through high school.

Who should participate in a Dual Language program?

Research shows that all students can be successful in Dual Language programs. Multilingual/English learners are prioritized in Dual Language program enrollment to prevent opportunity gaps and encourage students to fully develop their first language. Monolingual English speaking students also benefit greatly from Dual Language education, including students from historically underserved groups.
