

SAC Minutes
January 24, 2019
6:00 p.m.

Attendance

- Present:
Principal: Derek Fleshman
Teacher: Brian Wood
Students: Jazmine Maxwell, Gavin Myers, and De Webb
Parents: Rebekah Brooks, Nikki Maxwell, Traci Gorman, Kim Myers, Rocky Myers, and Teresa Webb
- Absent:
Tami Padilla and Rachel Brown

Outdoor Education

- Brian Wood gave an update on the upcoming Spring trips (Moab, Bent's Fort, and POW-WOW)
- Plans are in the works to update the Outdoor Ed video for the school's website

Attendance Initiative

- Students with Perfect Attendance have been acknowledged quarterly at the Flaming Birds Award Ceremony
- In order to promote better attendance, Oakes would like to recognize and encourage attendance on a regular basis by broadcasting through the classroom and the TV monitor the names of students who have perfect or near perfect attendance
- As an added incentive, students with perfect/almost perfect attendance will be rewarded with gift cards and/or coupons

State Mandated Assessment

- SAT (Juniors 50+ Students) is scheduled for April 9th
- PSAT (Sophomores 2+ Students) is scheduled for April 9th
- CMAS Science (Juniors, 50+ Students) is scheduled for April 16th
- Alternative afternoon class schedule on test dates
- Students and parents are encouraged to not opt-out; zero scores skew school scores

Mid-Year Evaluations

- Same evaluation rubric as last year; rubric was distributed
- Current evaluation rubric has more clear and concise language, but still has room for improvement
- State Standards are included in the rubric
- Leadership evaluation rubric which is modeled after the teacher rubric was distributed; will continue to work for improvements

GED

- Graduated 24 students that otherwise would have dropped out
- Future plans include the move of expulsion services to the Oakes campus to be combined with the GED program

Enrollments

- Enrollment numbers have been lower in the past few years for several reasons
 - Parents are hesitant to send their students to an alternative program due to stigma associated with such programs, Parents are concerned that they may be placing their student in a troubled environment
 - Schools have been hesitant to send struggling students to us because of funding that follows each student
- Will put efforts into a PR campaign through information letters and outreach through social media such as Facebook to change the stigma in the community
- Traci Gorman and Rebekah Brooks have volunteered to give testimonials/references for Oakes
- DCSD has plans for a new alternative high school in Parker near the PACE Center. Funds of $12 million for the school will come from the bond passed in November. The school may follow Oakes' model, but there is a push for a CTE model instead.

Financials were passed out for review.

Evacuation, lockdown, lockout, and other emergency drills were discussed.

Rocky Myers volunteered his services for whatever the school may need. He will connect with Fleshman for opportunities to serve Oakes.

Canned Food Drive was discussed once again

Liability and student safety as well as students seeing the impact of their efforts were discussed. Should a decision be made to hold a food drive, a possible beneficiary is the new community shelter in Castle Rock (WinterShelterNetwork.org) which operates from November through March. The shelter is for women/children; homeless men are provided with hotel vouchers. We would like for Winter Shelter Network to present to our students about how a food drive benefits those they serve.

Rocky Mountain Governmental Purchasing Association

Scholarships for Supply Management Certificate courses are available through NIGP for interns working in the procurement field. Traci Gorman who is a procurement specialist for the Town of Parker will connect with Leeann Ladd to determine if the internship and scholarship program is a good fit for our students.

Sam's Club

The District is running a "pilot" program for Sam's purchasing. Derek requested to be a part of the pilot program. Rebekah emailed district personnel who oversees the pilot program to include Oakes in the pilot program.

Next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, April 18, 2019 at 6:00 pm.
