Dear WPS Families,

Thank you to everyone who joined us for Family Literacy Night! We loved seeing our superheroes in action, using their reading and writing superpowers to tackle challenges and celebrate the joy of literacy together. Your enthusiasm and participation made the night truly special!

As we head into our last week before spring break, we're looking forward to more great learning and fun. Let's make it a fantastic week!

Go Cowboys!

Have a great weekend,

Dr. Gina Kirchner

Principal, Wyoming Primary Schools

Counselor Corner

During the past week the Cowboy TV lessons focused on being prepared. When you're prepared, you can listen better, understand more, and do your best work. If you aren't prepared, you might forget things, feel rushed, or have a hard time keeping up. Students can be prepared for school by cooperating with their morning routine at home, keeping their school supplies and materials organized, paying attention to the teacher's directions, and keeping healthy eating and sleeping habits. When students are prepared, they are ready to learn and they help the school day run smoothly. You can help your child develop his/her skills in this area by delegating age-appropriate tasks that your child can do to help your family prepare for activities at home and in the community.
